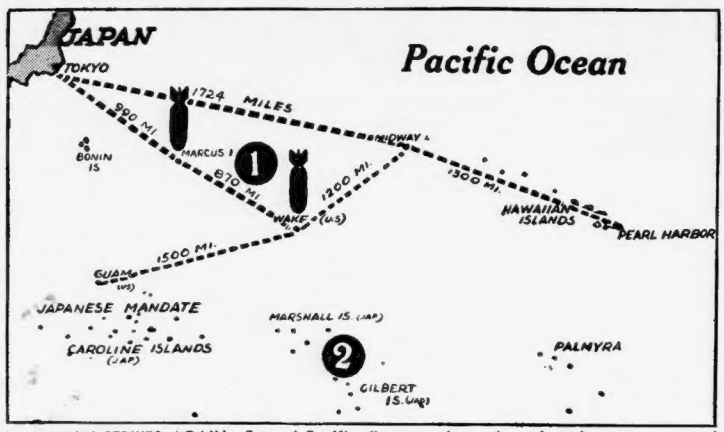
2 JAP SEA BASES SMASHED



U. S. NAVY STRIKES AGAIN—Second Pacific fleet smash at the solar plexus sea area of Japan was announced by Washington today. (1) Surface and air craft gunned and bombed Wake and Marcus island bases of the enemy, inflicting vast damage. Wake was captured by the Japs after a long and heroic defense by U. S. forces. (2) On March 3, a task force of the fleet swarmed into the Marshall and Gilbert island base area of the foe, the first attack in revenge for the treacherous Pearl Harbor stab. Two days later Tokyo reported a bomber attack on the Bonin islands, several hundred miles south of Japan, and on Feb. 28 an air attack on Wake.

Two sudden, savage and "highly successful" assaults on Wake and Marcus islands—the latter only 950 miles from Tokyo—were disclosed in first-hand accounts by Navy spokesmen today.

Several Japanese were taken prisoner, and coastal and shore installations at both outposts were battered for hours from the sea and air.

The attack on Wake was February 24—two months after a small garrison of U. S. marines was overwhelmed to end a 14-day stand which remains one of the highlights of heroism of this war.

The raid on Marcus was by flare-light in the early hours of March 4.

No United States ships were damaged.

Two planes were lost, one in each attack. Anti-aircraft fire—the only major opposition encountered—downed both of them.

Here is the box score of the two raids:

WAKE ISLAND (FEB. 24)

Sunk—Two patrol boats, dredges, fuel barges.

Shot down—One four-engined seaplane.

Destroyed—Two other four-engined seaplanes, fuel oil and gasoline storages, underground hangars, magazines and storehouses.

Captured—A few prisoners.

United States loses—One plane.

MARCUS ISLAND (MARCH 4)

Destroyed—Radio station, hangars, storage houses, ammunition, fuel and gasoline storages.

Damaged—Nearly-completed air base.

United States losses—One plane.

PRISONERS CAPTURED

The prisoners were picked up at Wake island in debris-laden waters after two Japanese patrol boats were bombed, shelled and sunk. At Wake, too, the entire aerial strength found was destroyed—three four-engined seaplanes.

An official Navy spokesman described the Marcus attack as "swift and cleanly-completed."

His recital:

"Marcus was attacked by aircraft bombardment so early in the day that flare illumination was used. An airbase in advanced stages of construction was found on the island. No enemy aircraft was found and no enemy opposition other than heavy anti-aircraft fire was encountered.

"The attack accounted for the destruction of hangars, storage houses, ammunition, fuel and gasoline storages, a radio station and considerable damage to the nearly-completed air field.

"One of our planes was shot down by anti-aircraft fire."

REDS SLAY 140,000 NAZIS

•OFFICIAL NEWS Moscow

March 25 (AP)

By EDDY GILMORE

Russian dispatches reported today that the German armies have lost more than 140,000 men killed alone since Feb. 5, with the heaviest toll on the Kalinin front, where the invaders were said to have suffered 61,700 casualties up to March 21.

While Soviet forces struck fresh blows toward the west and smashed counterattacks from German lines reported reinforced by 38 fresh divisions, other Nazi losses itemized in communiques and special announcements gave these figures:

Leningrad front—16,000 killed March 9-22.

Northwestern (Kalinin) front—14,000 killed Feb. 22-March 10.

Southern and southwestern fronts—About 10,000 killed March 7-12.

A special dispatch from Smolensk, west of Moscow, said violent battles had developed, with Russian troops in complete possession of 12 districts and challenging the Germans in 10 others. Such districts correspond closely to counties in the United States.

From Marshal Timoshenko's southern army came a report Soviet scouts had penetrated Taganrog, German-held port on the sea of Azov, exchanged fire with the garrison, tossed grenades into a barracks and retired.

The government information bureau officially credited both regulars and guerrillas with heavy inroads upon Hitler's military man power, but said there were no substantial shifts in position yesterday.

16,000 NAZIS KILLED

Red army troops based in the Leningrad sector destroyed 86 German planes and captured such loot as 78 field guns, seven tanks, two armored cars, 90 mortars and 424 machine-guns in addition to killing 16,000 men from March 9 to 22, the bureau said.

The midday communique said more than 600 Germans had been killed or wounded in two local fights on the western and southern fronts and two populated places had been captured.

Japanese bombers struck their third consecutive blow at Port Moresby today and, although the raid was the weakest of the three, it underscored the belief that the Japanese regard the south coast New Guinea port as the gate which must be forced to open the way for invasion of northern Australia.

In contrast to the mass assaults on the town yesterday and Monday, only three bombers were seen in the attack today and these dodged in and out of high clouds in a dis-

ALLIES LOSE KEY AIRFIELD IN BURMA

New Delhi, India

March 25 (AP)

•OFFICIAL NEWS

Chinese headquarters in Burma reported today a force of 1000 Japanese troops captured an airdrome north of Toungoo, key of Allied resistance, yesterday afternoon.

The communique admitted the situation on the Toungoo front was "serious."

Chinese forces were sent to dislodge the Japanese, the communique said, and a "heavy battle" was in progress this morning.

A combined force of Japanese cavalry and infantry in civilian dress cut the road from Toungoo north to Mandalay 20 miles above Toungoo yesterday, the Chinese said, but added the "Chinese forces drove out the cavalry and mopped up the plainclothes men."

Earlier reports said Japanese patrols had turned the Chinese flank and cut the Toungoo-Mandalay road eight miles north of Toungoo. But the latest communique said the main Japanese force still was 20 miles south of Toungoo and the Chinese continued to hold their outpost line.

There was no word of the situation on the western, or Prome, flank of the Allied line which is held by British imperials.

Kyungon is eight miles north of Toungoo and 15 miles north of the area where fighting was reported yesterday.

JAPS SEIZE FIRST INDIA TERRITORY

New Delhi,

India, March 25 (AP)

Japanese forces have completed an unopposed occupation of the strategic Andaman islands athwart the Bay of Bengal supply routes to Calcutta in their first seizure of Indian territory.

A communique issued today by the Indian government said:

"The Andaman Islands were occupied by a Japanese force March 23. Our forces in the islands were withdrawn some days previously.

"It also was found possible to evacuate a considerable portion of the population of the islands, including women, children and a number of convicts."

In Andaman Islands are a chain north of Sumatra and some 350 miles southwest of Rangoon. They lie along the sea routes to Calcutta, chief eastern Indian port, 650 miles to the northwest.

This occupation was the first Japanese seizure of Indian territory.

Australians Row Over AEF Bridals

By STEWART LEGGE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

MELBOURNE, March 25—Controversy mounted in Australia today as to whether Australian girls should be permitted to marry United States soldiers, particularly on short acquaintance.

8 HURT HERE—Medford bus goes out of control at Summer st. and Douglas rd. today, and smashes into pole . . . injuring eight persons, including Operator Hanson Gates, and shaking up 26 passengers. Left front of the bus was smashed in and broken glass rained on passengers.

Since early February, local parsons have been confronted with irrefutable evidence American soldiers love Australian girls, who seem to like it.

Some persons are disturbed by the fact these young persons want to go to the altar. Soon after announcement was made that United States forces were in Australia it was revealed numbers of marriages already had been celebrated. In one city alone there were 20 in a single month.

Jean Waters of Footscray, state of Victoria, and First Class Pvt. Peter Constantino, U. S. A., were believed to have been the first couple married. This was a case of love at first sight. They saw each other daily from Feb. 2 to Feb. 11, when they became engaged and decided to marry on the 17th.

Brisbane's Roman Catholic Archbishop Duhig sounded the first note of warning about these hasty alliances, saying United States authorities should forbid them.

"SLIGHT ON U. S. HONOR"

His priests, therefore, are not performing ceremonies unless the bridegroom is able to prove his legal freedom to marry. This has been termed a "slight on the honor" of American soldiery and has evoked nationwide indignation.

The Melbourne Herald said:

"The Roman Catholic Archbishop of Brisbane, in issuing his caution against American-Australian marriages in haste, said: 'These men did not come to Australia to marry; they came to fight.'

"For these churlish words, far

8 HURT IN MEDFORD ELEVATED BUS CRASH

Running out of control with 35 passengers aboard, a Boston El bus crashed into a pole at Summer st. and Douglas rd., Medford, today, injuring eight persons and shaking up the others.

Taken to Lawrence Memorial Hospital were:

HANSON GATES, 41, Cedar rd., Medford, bus operator, cuts on face and head.

FRANK P. FRAZER, 72, Hawthorn st., Somerville, cuts and bruises.

MARILENE MEANOR, 19, Valentine rd., Arlington, Medford high school student, cuts and and bruises.

OLLY RAIS, 19, Orchard st., Somerville, cuts and bruises.

RICHARD McCURDY, 33, Dartmouth st., Watertown, cuts on face.

EDWARD DUNLEA, 33, Foskett st., Somerville, cuts and bruises.

HARRY A. DUNHAM, 62, Powder House blvd., Somerville, cuts and bruises.

JOHN W. GRIFFIN, 52, Mason st., Medford, cuts and bruises.

Hospital attendants said none of the injured were hurt seriously, but all were held for observation.

Passengers said the bus, en route from North Cambridge to Medford, swerved across Summer st. after the driver appeared to have difficulty steering it. They said he applied the brakes, but the bus struck a pole before he could stop it.

The left front of the bus, near the driver's seat, was smashed in and flying glass rained on passengers in the forward section.

Aircraft Workers Send Flying Ace 230,000 Cigarettes

NEW YORK, March 25 (AP)—Somewhere in the western Pacific Naval Lieut. Edward H. O'Hare is busily bringing down Japanese planes in his Grumman "Wild Cat."

If he needs a cigarette after those dog fights, he might be having to "grub" one now from his fellow fighters, but one of these days he won't.

When word reached workers at the Grumman Aircraft Corp. on Long Island that Lieut. O'Hare had bagged six out of 19 Jap planes that had attacked a United Nations convoy, they took up a collection to buy him a gift.

They amassed $583 and sent him exactly 230,000 cigarettes.

HOW M'ARTHUR BEATS THE JAPS

By AUSTEN LAKE

THE scene was in Lanao Province of the Island of Mindanao, Philippines.

The time was a few days before Gen. Douglas MacArthur received his presidential "furlough" from Bataan with orders to take supreme command of the defense of Australia.

The true-life dramatic personnel was a bare-legged, shoeless delegation of sun-wrinkled, little Moros, waving sharp krisses, barangs, tabas thrust through their breech clouts and carrying well-sharpened spears.

They had wormed their way through the Japanese lines, occasionally stepping out of the jungle bush to hack or skewer some unwary brown runt, snatch his rifle and buy on. And now they had arrived under infantry escort at the headquarters of the General, representative of some 10,000 tough, unconverted jungle men.

The turbaned leader greeted MacArthur by uching his forehead and dipping slightly forward, speaking slowly in his island dialect as a Filipino soldier translated.

"We, the Moros, know that this war is a greatmergency," he said in singsong. "We know that all men must stand together. So we have determined to disregard the differences in religion between the Christian, the Filipino, the Mohammedan and pagan as long as the Japanese stay on our land . . . To this we have sworn on the Koran. Now all the Moros will fight with you."

GEN. MacARTHUR

IGOROT WARRIOR

It was an unexpected backlog of loyalty which meant much to MacArthur. For these were the pesky, obdurate little men against whom he and his father had fought in the dawn of U. S. suzerainty over the Philippines, a people who had remained fiercely inimicable to American rule.

THE General knew them all. He recalled how it was the Moro who kept on coming when struck with the oil style .38-caliber U. S. bullet and forced the Army to change to the harder-hitting .45 automatic. The Moro died hard and would account for many thousands of Jap soldiers before this war ended.

This sudden solidarity of the native peoples was no accident. MacArthur had engendered their respect and won their co-operation as no white commander before him had done. It had been a word-of-mouth conversion from a hard-bitten, irreconcilable enmity in which the soldiers of his little polyglot army had told their tribesmen of the stern, fair-dealing white general who gave them credit for fighting quality.

When MacArthur arrived in Manila to take command of the Filipino home defenses relations between the natives and the U. S. Army were none too cordial. The age-old contempt of the white man for the Oriental was manifest there as it was in Burma, French Indo-China, and Malaya, and to many of Manila's Pacific appeasers, sitting on the fan-cooled verandas of the Polo and the Army-Navy Clubs, the "Field Marshal" and his sweaty, pine-knot native soldiery were an opera bouffe, a futile ragtag of serio-comics.

MacArthur set his jaw and told the "cock-eyed world."

"I know a fighting force when I see one and these men are as tough as they come."

He infected them with his own courage and vaulting optimism and by so doing kept the population from sinking through terror and apathy into the arms of the Japanese diplomats and fifth columnists who had so undermined the native peoples elsewhere in the China Seas.

THUS in March he enlivened a communique with a report of how hordes of non-Christian Igorot tribesmen, the blood enemies of the Moro, had fought shoulder to shoulder with his men on the rugged, tangled terrain, mounting on the slippery backs of U. S. tanks and riding them into battle like half-naked jockeys, leaping off to slash and hack and often running ahead of the mounted guns.

"When the attack was over," said the General, "the remnants of tanks and of the Igorots were still there. But the 20th Japanese infantry regiment was completely annihilated

One Blade A Week Per Shaver

WASHINGTON, March 25 (INS)—The War Production Board today issued a curtailment on production of safety razors, straight razors and blades which, it said, would only make available an average of a blade per week per shaver.

The order limits the monthly production of safety razors during the next 90 days to 70 per cent of monthly average production in 1940 when the annual output was approximately 12,000,000.

Blade production, both donble and single, and the output of straight razors is limited to the 1940 production, which was considerably under the current output.

Dry shavers were not included in today's order. WPB officials said that they would be covered in another order to be issued soon.

M. D. Moore, WPB section chief, said the curtailment order is designed to save valuable metals and release machinery used in the manufacture of safety razors for war production. Plants making most of the razors already are engaged in some direct war work, he said.

Moore estimated the order would result in an annual saving of 1000 tons of special high carbon steel and 550 tons of low carbon steel.

WPB officials did not foresee a return of the bearded male of the gay 90's era as a result of the curtailed production of shaving equipment.

LONG PARKING BY LAW GROUP FACES BATTLE

White most of City Hall cheered today, Chairman William P. Hickey of the Boston Traffic Commission said that his baord will take up tomorrow the matter of unlimited parking privileges now enjoyed by members of the city law department.

The law department attaches, it was revealed yesterday in Municipal Court, are the only such privileged persons and today at City Hall the tongues were loosed at last and there were many to assert that the privileges had been abused.

Herman Carp, one of the dozen or more assistant corporation counsels, was in court on four charges of illegal parking, but he pleaded not guilty and the case was dismissed when he brought up a law that permits members of that department to park anywhere in the city, for as long as the person desires, at any time of day or night.

WILL CHANGE LAW

Under the law, Judge Charles Carr could then do nothing but dismiss the charges, but he said to Carp:

"I suppose the streets will be cluttered with cars of the law department now, though I don't believe the department should have special privileges."

Chairman Hickey, questioned today about the law said it became effective May 25, 1931, three years before he took office.

While Hickey declined to predict what action his commission will take, the City Hall consensus (an enthusiastic consensus) was that the law would be changed and the parking privilege taken away from the law department members.

PARKING PRIVILEGE ABUSED

Certain city officials said the unlimited parking privilege has been grossly abused by members of the department, principally by some of the assistant corporation council group, and there has been constant friction between these men and the police.

According to some of the complaints to high officials at the Hall, the abusers of the privilege have been leaving their cars even in restricted areas while they attended theaters at night or while they dined or attended banquets—and then have cited the privilege law when rebuked by police officers.

There are about 50 persons in the law department, according to these city officials, but most of the parking abuse has been by eight or nine of the corporation counsel's assistants.

Truck Tours Roof With Siren That Jars Washington

WASHINGTON, March 25 (INS)—The nation's capital tested the world's "loudest" air raid siren today and virtually all downtown Washington held its ears throughout the 30 minutes that the test lasted.

The siren, a huge motor-driven affair mounted on a one-ton truck which circled atop the roof of one of the tallest buildings in the downtown area, is designed to blanket the entire District of Columbia with one warning signal.

Some idea of its efficiency could be obtained from newsmen in the nearby International News Service Bureau, who were forced to suspend all telephonic communication because conversations were utterly impossible, so piercing was the siren's wail. Several of them complained of ear-ache after the test, which was witnessed by high civilian defense officials, including National Director James D. Landis.

RICHDALE JOINS N. E. CHIEFS IN PLEA FOR WAR PLANT OIL

In a move he described as "a desperate effort to alleviate the acute oil shortage facing New England," James C. Richdale, petroleum coordinator for Massachusetts today appealed to Washington for the movement of more tankers and tank cars into this area.

Richdale acted in conjunction with the fuel administrators of the other New England states in the hope of averting a possible shutdown of industrial plants engaged in war work. He said these plants have only 48 hours' supply of heavy fuel oil on hand.

Following a conference with Richdale, Gov. Saltonstall told a press conference:

"The situation has not been exaggerated and is extremely serious. Mr. Richdale has informed me that some plants working on war goods may have to close if we do not receive relief."

Richdae declared the situation is getting more acute daily. He said that beside the appeal to Petroleum Co-ordinator Ickes, the fuel administrators will ask assistance from New England Congressmen.

Clyde G. Morrill, chairman of the Independent Oil Dealers' Ass'n, said the most serious shortage is in the heavier oils used by industrial plants. He said the lighter fuel oils used in home heating units probably would be available. Morrill declared that at present the spectre of "heatless homes" is not anticipated. It is hoped, he added, that with seasonably warm weather and the present curtailed deliveries New England will be able to squeeze through until May 1.

NEED TANK CARS

Pointing out that Massachusetts uses 1,450,000 barrels of fuel oil a day, Morrill declared it requires 60 tank cars daily to supply this need. He said the present shortage was due in part to lack of cars coming into this area.

Supplies of gasoline, Morrill said, are a little better than those of other fuels. He declared that at present there is at least three weeks' supply of gasoline in this area.

exceeding the bounds of his ecclesiastical jurisdiction, we cannot apologize fast enough to our allies."

Today the Melbourne Sun took up the cudgels on behalf of Cupid. Urging caution, the paper said:

"Failing any just impediment, there cannot be any good reason why Eros should not co-operate with Mars in strengthening the alliance between the two Pacific democracies."

The United States Army has not issued any instructions on the subject. So far as allotments are concerned, the Army regards the soldier's pay as his own property and he can do with it as he pleases.

MEN MAY BE TRANSFERRED

The Rev. George Judkins of the Methodist Reformed Church agrees with Archbishop Duhig, stating men may be transferred and unable to meet their marriage commitments. However, Australian girls know United States soldiers are affluent by Australian standards. For example, a United States lieutenant is paid about the same as an Australian colonel.

The Rev. Henry Evans, regarded as Australia's most brilliant preacher, who officiates at the Congregational church on Collins st. in Melbourne, takes the view marriages on short acquaintance are destined for the rocks. The Rev. Mr. Evans has the pulpit formerly occupied by the Rev. Dr. Llewellyn Bevan, former New York pastor.

These opinions, however, do not represent most Australian feeling, which was expressed by the Rev. R. G. Nichols, Anglican preacher known throughout the country as "Brother Bill" for his radio sermons, slum work, and training farms for boys. "Brother Bill" says:

"It is my considered opinion that anything which will draw Australia and the United States closer together should be encouraged, not impeded."

DOUGHBOYS PEEVED

A curious aspect of the subject is the docile way Australian parents are taking it. Most realize the girls have been lonely for two years, with the flower of Australian manhood away at war.

When one of the Yanks got wind of the proposal to call a halt to unapproved marriages he said tersely:

"T'aint fair."

Another doughboy said:

"No commanding officer should have powers of interference which, since the dark ages, have been reserved for mothers-in-law —it's unconstitutional."

Exercise Called Aid To Aviators' Eyesight

Proper exercises can develop better two-eye vision, with its perception of depth which is so essential in aviation and other combat services, declared Dr. Frederick W. Brock of New York city at the annual meeting of the New England council of optometrists at the Hotel Statler.

"Good sight and good depth perception are not always found in the same set of eyes," the speaker said. "Either lack of attention or abnormal dominancy of one eye may cause marked reduction of depth perception in binocular vision."

No Stinting of Good Things in Our
CORNED BEEF HASH

I WONDER HOW MANY of you people share with me memories of the old days, when corned beef hash away from home was a thing to conjure with. And do you remember how it was the butt of a thousand jokes, and the way the comedians in the old Keith Circuit used to "rock them in their seats" with clever quips at the expense of this delicious and time-honored dish?

• But those, of course, were "the old days." And while we "oldsters" sometimes like to think back at the peace, quiet and serenity of those happy times that have gone, yet we in the restaurant business have to admit that the preparation of food has come a long way in the past few decades. The care, inspection and santitation now exercised in large restaurants would astound you.

• Take Waldorf corned beef hash, for instance. Nothing we cook receives more attention . . . minute attention to the smallest detail . . .

• Every pound of fine beef, bought especially for this purpose, is carefully trimmed and prepared in our own sunlighted meat rooms by those very particular white-uniformed operatives. And the potatoes, from the State of Maine, are the best of the crop from Aroostook and Houlton counties.

• Everything we use in corned beef hash is of the best, and everything we do to make it comes from years of understanding how, and a real consuming pride in our work.

• That we are featuring hash this week thousands of our customers will be glad to know. There's none better anywhere, and it has a reputation we cherish.

Japs Again Bomb Port Moresby

play of new respect for the hard-hitting ground defenses.

Fighters which probably accompanied the big planes apparently

Prime Minister John Curtin voiced confidence that the steadily strengthening Allied defenses would not only hold the port but from it would hit back hard at the whole far-stretched Japanese assault front in the New Guinea area.

Curtin said that so far Port Moresby "has given the Japanese more than it has received—as the enemy bombers shot down in the area in the past few days can testify."

Addressing the Commonwealth House of Representatives in Canberra, Curtin announced that the Dominion had given Gen. Douglas MacArthur authority of "the highest order" and declared that the Australian government "has now become a much more active partner in operational direction of the war."

He cautioned, however, that although an offensive against the Japanese from Australia is the goal of the Allies, "let us not exaggerate the speed with which we can reach it."

"We must first insure that Australia is held," he said.

U. S. ORDERS FALL RIVER STRIKERS BACK TO JOBS

FALL RIVER, March 25 (AP)—Declaring that products of Fall River's 18 cloth manufacturing mills were vital to the war production program, Undersecretary of War Robert T. Patterson told workers in a telegram today "that no strike could be permitted to interfere with the even flow of materials in these mills."

Approximately 3500 operatives walked out yesterday in protest against a National Labor Board decision rejecting a petition to organize the mills on a craft rather than an industrial basis. About 18,000 persons are employed in the mills.

One of he plants was shut today and executives of the Fall River Cotton Manufacturers Ass'n said the others were being operated on a 40 to 75 per cent basis.

Patterson's message, received by Joseph Ainsworth, secretary of the Loomfixers' Union, read:

"The mills in question are providing items vital to the success of the war production program. No strike can be permitted to interfere with the even flow of materials from these mills. It is essential that you and your members arrange for immediate resumption of work."

The workers who walked out met later to consider the Patterson message and also one signed by Thomas F. Neblett, chief mediator of the War Labor Board, and Charles H. Cole, chairman of the State Board of Conciliation and Arbitration, which also asked immediate resumption of work.

The mediators' statement said:

"The dispute is now before the War Labor Board. We call upon the federation to urge all its members to resume production immediately and to continue without interruption while all issues of the dispute are being disposed of by the War Labor Board in accordance with the executive order of the President."

PARDON HEARING FOR LIFER

Herbert T. Munson of Pittsfield, serving a life term for the murder of Carlton Rovazzek, proprietor of a Pittsfield dine and dance resort, will be given a pardon hearing April 6. State law makes a hearing mandatory for all lifers who have served 15 years.

Ford Offers Lindbergh Job In War Plant

DETROIT, March 25 (AP)—Henry Ford, it was learned today, has offered Charles A. Lindbergh a position in the rapidly growing Willow Run bomber plant and Lindbergh is considering the offer.

The offer was made as Ford, Lindbergh and a group of others inspected the bomber plant and airport yesterday. Lindbergh returned to Washington following an all-day visit with Ford.

The exact nature of the position to be offered Lindbergh was not disclosed beyond the intimation that Ford was eager to obtain his services in the bomber plant engineering department.

Lindbergh has been a frequent visitor at the Ford plant and the Ford home. Shortly after his history-making flight across the Atlantic, Lindbergh took Ford for his first airplane ride above the Ford properties at River Rouge.

When Ford, nearly two years ago, asserted that under certain conditions he could turn out a thousand airplanes a day, one of the etipulations was that he should have the technical assistance of "men like Lindbergh."

Plans for plane production at the bomber plant contemplates an output to be measured "by the dozens" each day.

U. S. Tourists to Get Canada Gas Cards

OTTAWA, March 25 (AP)—United States tourists who are in Canada when gasoline rationing goes into effect April 1 will be able to obtain without charge ration books entitling them to the same amount of gasoline as Canadian drivers of non-essential cars.

Tourists entering Canada after April 1 may apply either for special 90-day ration books or, if they plan to stay longer, for category "A" ration books good for a full year.

U. S. to Control Rubber Patents

WASHINGTON, March 25 (AP)—Attorney-General Biddle told press conference inquirers today that in cases in which "we are convinced prosecution would be detrimental to the war effort, some anti-trust prosecutions may be suspended until after the war."

In this connection, it was brought out that a settlement was imminent in connection with a reported investigation of patents for synthetic rubber and other chemical processes held by a large oil company.

Without identifying the company, Biddle said "the alien property custodian is going to take over the patents and distribute them to industry." He said he did not know whether the agreement actually had been signed.

Wife Swoons as Stamp Robber Is Given 9 Years

Throwing a crowded Suffolk Superior courtroom into a turmoil, Mrs. Alfred M. Sarno, an expectant mother and wife of the alleged "ringleader" in a $46,000 food stamp robbery, screamed and collapsed today as a 9 to 11-year sentence was passed on her husband.

Rising in her sea in the rear of the court, the woman shouted:

"My baby! Freddie, help me, help me." She then sank to the floor.

Court officers carried her to an ante room, where first aid was given.

The only one of six men who had held out on a not guilty plea, Sarno was described by Asst. Dist. Atty. Francis J. Hickey as the "brains" of the plot by which the gang stole the stamps from a welfare office in Hawkins st., last November.

He also was charged with having threatened death to three partners who had turned state's evidence, resulting in their transfer from the Charles st. jail to other jails.

FIVE OTHERS SENTENCED

All six were charged with conspiracy and breaking and entering. The conspiracy count in all cases was filed. The other defendants were sentenced by Judge Francis J. Goode as follows:

John J. Moran, 25, of K st., South Boston, 7 to 9 years.

Daniel R. Napolitano, 25, of Cooper st., Boston, 5 to 7 years.

Frank DeMartino, 31, of Baldwin pl., 4 to 6 years.

Adino E. Pughano, 19, of Thatcher st., 4 to 6 years.

Pasquale A. Colellam, 25, of Prince st., 2½ to 5 years.

Colella got off the lightest on recommendation of Asst. Dist. Atty. Hickey, who said he was arrested on the night of the break, had made a ful confession and was of great assistance to the government.

TURNED STATE'S EVIDENCE

Moran and Napolitano also turned State's evidence and Hickey asked the court to take this fact into account.

All except Sarno previously had pleaded guilty. Sarno was found guilty by a jury after 5½ hours of deliberation and a sealed verdict returned.

Moran had testified for the government at Sarno's trial, and his counsel, in pleading for a lighter sentence, said that to do so his client had taken "his life in his hands." Moran, however, received a longer term than the 6-8 years Hickey recommended.

Quiz Man on Slugging Of Woman in Church

Apprehended shortly after Mrs. Minnie Waterman, 72, of Adams st., Dorchester, was struck by a hammer and robbed while she knelt at prayer in St. Ambrose's Church, a 32-year-old Dorchester man was being questioned today by officers of the Field's Corner station.

The widow's assailant escaped with her handbag containing $26.50. Police picked up the Dorchester man a few hours later after he had been reported loitering near the church.

15 MORE WAR FIRMS PUSH SALARIES UP

WASHINGTON, March 25 (AP)—The House Naval Committee was informed today the compensation of officials of 15 "sample" companies with Navy contracts had increased "tremendously" in the period between 1934-1941, the increases ranging from 22 to 1331 per cent.

The report came from Edmund Toland, counsel for the committee, who asserted he would "prove that there is a feeling on the part of both labor and industry that 'what do we care about cost; the government will foot the bill.'"

Rep. Gore (D.) of Tennessee told the committee that "I certainly think the government is being filched and robbed.

"I warn both the labor lords and industrial barons," he said, "that the patience of the American people is worn threadbare."

Toland listed J. B. Armitage, chief engineer of Kearney & Tucker Corp., as the person who received the 1331 per cent increase, reporting that in 1931 Armitage received a salary of $6157, compared with $30,000 in 1941, and that he received a bonus in 1937 of $6765, compared with $63,300 in 1941.

C. of C. Assailed On 40-Hr. Week

WASHINGTON, March 25 (AP)—The United States Chamber of Commerce was accused by Sen. Thomas (D.) of Utah today of organizing a write-to-Congress campaign which he said would disrupt what he called a voluntary agreement between industry and labor to continue the 40-hour week.

Thomas, asserting he was "unhappy" to have to lay the information before the Senate, declared the national chamber sent out letters to all local and state groups on March 20 urging them to become "aggressive" in bringing widespread opinion to bear on Congress.

Likening it to the recent "bundles for Congress" movement, Thomas declared that "the ill which will be done will be even worse."

The CIO and the AFL last night processed readiness to modify their overtime pay scales in response to Administration efforts but a House drive for legislation to suspend the 40-hour week was still being pressed.

Hub Ace O'Hare In Task Force Raids On Jap Islands

WASHINGTON, March 25 (AP)—The Navy made no reference in today's report to the aerial action reported March 3 in which a task force, otherwise unidentified, encountered 18 heavy enemy bombers west of the Gilbert Islands and shot down 16 of them. In that action Lieut. Edward H. O'Hare, fighter pilot, became the Navy's first ace flier of the war, being personally credited with the destruction of six enemy bombers. O'Hare was one of the fliers operating from an aircraft carrier in the task force.

U. S. FLEET SMASHES 2 JAP ISLAND BASES

of a four-engined Japanese seaplane and other destruction.

Here is his story:

Forces involving aircraft carriers, cruisers and destroyers raided Wake Island with air bombardment and surface bombardment. The attack was highly successful. We did not encounter resistance worthy of the name.

"The aircraft strength in the enemy's installations on Wake was limited to three large four-engined patrol seaplanes. Two of them were destroyed on the water, the other in the air.

"The latter, in the direct line of gunfire from our ships and planes, exploded and distintegraded when a third burst from a ship's batteries struck it, and part of the plane were found imbedded in the wings of an American fighter. That's coming pretty close.

FUEL BARGES DESTROYED

"Two enemy patrol boats of the small cutter class also were sunk. Fuel barges, dredges and similar equipment were destroyed, and a few prisoners were brought back. They were taken from the water.

"Wake was quite well defended by coastal batteries. Our surface bombardment group, of considerable gun power, silenced a large part, and air bombardment accounted for a large part of the remainder.

"Fuel oil and gasoline storages of considerable value were destroyed. Underground structures, including hangars, magazines and storehouses, were damaged and in several cases destroyed.

"Our losses consisted of one plane. None of our ships was hit."

Navy spokesmen stressed that Marcus was potentially a highly valuable base, for aircraft as well as for surface patrol units operating in the defense of Japan itself.

MARCUS JAPAN'S HAWAII

The island roughly is 1000 miles northwest of Wake and 3000 miles from Pearl Harbor, and is in the same general area as the island of Guam, which the Japanese seized last December. In one sense, Marcus is Japan's Hawaii as a strategic outpost for the mainland.

It is no secret that the Marcus attack was regarded so significantly in Tokyo that lights of that city were blacked out for several nights afterwards.

The raids were conducted by task forces of the U. S. Pacific fleet—aircraft, carriers, cruisers and destroyers—which have been on the move constantly in carrying out the promise of high naval officials that the sea lanes will be kept open and the battle carried to Japan's front door.

So far as is known, Marcus is the closest any United States forces have approached Japan on the offensive mission with the exception of American submarines which have all but moored at Japanese wharves.

Here's Tokyo's Version Of the 2 Island Raids

Both raids previously had been reported by the Japanese.

On Feb. 28, four days after the attack at Wake Japanese imperial headquarters reported shore guns there had repulsed an unidentified naval squadron composed of an aircraft carrier, two cruisers and six destroyers.

The communique from Tokyo claimed one of the cruisers was set afire and the other hit by bombs, one of the destroyers hit by a bomb and five of the attacking planes shot down.

Loss of one patrol boat and some casualties to the Japanese defenders was admitted.

Minamitori Shima (Marcus island) was reported by the Tokyo radio on March 5 to have been attacked by 30 planes of unspecified nationality which were said to have set one building afire and caused eight casualties. Seven of the raiders were claimed shot down.

British Food Situation Graver Than Ever

LONDON, March 25 (INS)—Speaking before a meeting of farmers today at Horsham, the Duke of Norfolk, ministry of agriculture parliamentary secretary, warned "the food situation in Britain is graver than it ever has been—that is the plain truth."

U. S. Navy Communique

WASHINGTON, March 25 (AP)—The text of the Navy Department communique based on reports received here up to 9:30 a. m. (E. W. T.) today follows:

"Vice-Admiral William F. Halsey, who commanded the naval forces which so successfully raided the Marshall Islands on Jan. 31 has delivered additional blows at two enemy outposts.

"First, on Feb. 24 at Japanese-occupied Wake Island and second, on March 4 at Japanese-owned Marcus Island.

"Although the islands had been the scene of much recent enemy activity these surprise attacks were met with little opposition and the attacking forces found few enemy planes and ships in the areas.

"Considerable damage was done to shore installations, defense positions, aircraft runways and water tanks by combined bombardment from aircraft and surface vessels, following the pattern so effectively used by Admiral Halsey on his raid on Marshall Islands.

"At Wake Island, which U. S. Marines defended from Dec. 7 until its capture on Dec. 23, 1941, the enemy has worked feverishly to strengthen the defenses against attack. Two hundred and nineteen bombs from aircraft and many shells from cruisers and destroyers were rained on the shore installations and landing field.

"Two enemy patrol boats were sunk, three large seaplanes at anchor were demolished, and the aircraft runways and a part of the defense batteries were damaged. Our loss in this engagement was one aircraft.

"At Marcus Island, 760 miles west-northwest of Wake, and 990 miles southeast of Yokohama, Admiral Halsey's forces executed a successful air attack just before dawn on the fort, dropping flares to illuminate objectives. No enemy aircraft or ships were present.

"Heavy anti-aircraft fire was encountered while our planes dropped 96 bombs on the small island, resulting in considerable damage to hangars, fuel and ammunition storages, radio installations and aircraft runways. Our loss in this engagement was one aircraft.

"There is nothing to report from other areas."

Tiny Marcus Island Taken Over by Japan in 1899

WASHINGTON, March 25 (INS)—Marcus Island, which the Navy announced today was bombed and shelled by the United States fleet, was taken over by the Japanese in 1899 for possible use at that time as a cable station.

The tiny island, which the National Geographical Society reported is known to the Japs as Minamitori Shima, or "South Bird" island, is a rocky islet only two miles long, two-thirds of a mile wide, and 104 feet high, and is 990 miles east of Yokahama.

It is one of the Bonin Islands, 3000 miles west by north of Honolulu, or more than two-thirds of the way between Honolulu and Tokyo.

MARINES' DEFENSE OF WAKE HEROIC

WASHINGTON, March 25 (AP)—The Marines who defended Wake established one of the most heroic records of action ever recorded in the defense of an American position.

The garrison there consisted of 13 officers, 365 Marines, one naval medical officer and six naval medical ratings. Major James P. S. Devereux of Washington was garrison commander.

In the 14 days which the garrison held out it lost heavily in its original equipment, which consisted of 12 fighter planes, six five-inch guns, 12 three-inch anti-aircraft guns, 18 50-caliber anti-aircraft guns and 30 30-caliber anti-aircraft guns, plus the usual smaller arms and six searchlights.

Yet the Marines were able to destroy seven Japanese warships, including a cruiser and three destroyers.

Marcus Island, the Japanese name of which is Minami Tori Shima, is a triangular point of land about five miles around. It is bordered by white, sandy beach with breakers extending off its west, northeast and east points. Until the present report little had been heard of it in this war.

M'ARTHUR'S GRIT INSPIRED FOE TRIBES TO JOIN HIS COLORS

. . . When you tell that story, stand in tribute to those gallant Igorots."

Thus again—not with bullets alone—has MacArthur contrived to lick the Jap, but with a sense of social balance and a fine appreciation for Oriental innuendo which wiped away inherent distrusts between dark and white skinned peoples and effected the common bond of meeting a common enemy.

SECRET BAND

Also effective throughout other parts of the Philippines are the F. F. F. (Fighters for Freedom), a secret band of intrepid natives who specialize in terrorizing the Jap and bringing savage vengeance on native traitors and informers, somewhat as the old KKK (Kataastassan Kagalang-galang Katipunan ng Bayon) society had done under the Spanish rule. With these, presumably, the General had, and needed, no contact.

MacArthur, said President Quezon, understands the complexities of Oriental nature as few Orientals ever can. The Philippines are in his blood. His father, Lieut.-Gen Arthur MacArthur, was their first military governor. His mother died in Manila. He courted and won his second wife and sired his chubby son there.

As a second lieutenant, fresh from West Point, he was assigned to U. S. combat forces in 1903 and helped to mop up the tangled backlands of a fanatical people. And always, from early manhood, he preached the sinister gospel that Japan was America's No. 1 potential foe and a ruthless adversary whom he knew as a "fatalistic fighter to whom life is cheap and obedience to autocracy is impregnated through uncounted generations."

As a professional man-at-arms Douglas MacArthur had specialized in the Japanese character much as a classic scholar concentrates on the philosophies of mankind

WAR'S HIS BUSINESS

"War is my business," he had written in a 1932 article. "Another man might study the mineral deposits of the Philippines and know the exact geological value of the land. Or he might measure to a fine degree the labor capacities, health conditions and transportation facilities of the sugar and hemp plantations. But my concern has been to weigh the capacity of our racial neighbors to make war, to study their military habits and pre-judge their intentions . . . I know as surely as night follows day that Japan will inevitably make war on the United States, and at a time when we are preoccupied in other world hemispheres . . . Then Japan will strike As she has always struck, without formal warning; that is her nature."

That, mind you, was written 10 years ago when Congress and the Nation were concerned with internal money ills, unemployment and the seven and seventy machinations of political intrigue. It was the year also that Representative Ross Collins of Mississippi, at the time chairman of the military subcommittee on appropriations in the House, introduced a bill to strip 2000 able-bodied officers off the Army payrolls. In the short-range vision of Congress war was a thing remote and the Army a military millstone around the nation's neck

"They toil not neither do they spin . . . " ba'bled Collins sententiously, while politicians generally applauded.

CHIEF OF STAFF

MacArthur was chief of staff then and, in effect, he snorted that the 2000 officers would be removed over his dead body," recommending instead that the officer force be increased by 4000

"That bill is suicidal," he stormed. "As an economy measure it is a mere shaving from the national budget. But as a prelude to disaster it is the equivalent of a paralytic stroke to national defense when every international signpost points toward coming chaos and a world turmoil which exceeds anything in past history."

The Senate overrode his protest and passed the bill with a comfortable margin. But somehow, in some manner not recorded, MacArthur won support in the House and gained a sufficient bloc of Democratic votes to kill it at the root. The 2000 officers were saved and when the final audit of the war is entered into the world agenda the saving of these commissioned men as a training source for the required 75,000 others will go far to balance accounts.

Thus, in his crusade—and it is just that—to lick the Jap, the tap roots of Douglas MacArthur's success as a fighting general were set in the soil of peace time. Bataan was not his first "last ditch" stand.

As the organizer and far-visioned seer of Eastern affairs he gained the reputation of being a cantankerous gadfly of materials from the bottle neck of Washington and Manila politics. Racing against time as he is now racing against time in Australia, he began to receive sizable trinklets from the spigots of U. S. production.

"DAY OF EFFORT"

"A day of effort now," he told leathery Colonel Steel of the All-American 31st Infantry, "is worth a month of fighting later on . . . We're heading into the storm."

Transports threaded the web of island waterways carrying U. S. technicians, troops, planes, tanks and supplies. In his Manila headquarters, surrounded by his personally created staff of nine men, termed "Knights of MacArthur's round table" by Filipino wits, he worked feverishly 18 hours a day over plans of hospitalization, transport, equipment, armament and depots. At 61, when many another less virile man was seeking the retirement of a warm spot by the kitchen hearth he set an exhausting pace for his juniors.

NIGHTLY DISPATCHES

Thus when the Japanese struck as he had said they would, his men rolled with the punch and came back on the balls of their feet. Small wonder, after several months of licking the Jap to a sodden standstill along the 14-mile line across the peninsula the 31st Regiment coined its own slogan.

"We're the battling —— from from Bataan. No papa, no mama, no Uncle Sam."

Repetitiously MacArthur sent his nightly dispatches to Washington, mostly couched in 100 per cent terse pessimism. It was a saga of how the Jap was entering the battle with ever increasing aerial and artillery support, bringing incessant weight and ferocity on the battle-weary and outnumbered garrison.

These reports boiled down to such as this:

"New enemy air units are appearing over our lines, bombing our troops almost constantly . . . Hostile artillery fire on our forts and positions on the Cavite shore continues. New enemy batteries in Bataan have increased the density of artillery fire. A fairly large convoy of Japanese troopships has arrived in Subic Bay and enemy reinforcements are landing at Alongapo."

In this depressing and outwardly seeming hopeless position MacArthur copied from the military notebook of the great French general, Ferdinand Foch. Like Foch, in his famous message to Gen. Joffre before the first battle of the Marne ("My right is exposed. My left is heavily attacked. My center is unable to hold its position. I cannot redistribute my forces The situation is excellent. I shall attack"), so did MacArthur spur his men by lashing out along the line and driving deep bites into the Jap lines. He counter-attacked.

In tomorrow's article Austen Lake reveals how Gen. MacArthur is making plans to combat invasion moves by Japs.

'Flying Tigers' Mourn, Ace Dies in Siam Raid

KUNMING, China, March 25 (AP)—The official notation "Killed in Action" written beside the name of squadron leader John (Scarsdale Jack) Newkirk, of the American Volunteer Group, today dampened the elation of the "Flying Tiger" pilots over their reported bag of 40 grounded Japanese planes in a surprise dawn raid yesterday.

Lieut. Newkirk, credited with shooting down more than a score of Japanese planes, crashed near the Japanese-occupied Thailand (Siam) airport of Chiengmai at the end of a low dive during the raid.

Lieut. Newkirk was awarded the distinguished service order earlier this month by the British for his daring work in Burma. His commander, Brig. Gen. Claire L. Chennault, said "It won't be easy to find his equal."

A close friend related that when Newkirk left the United States, he told his bride of a few days that "This is not exactly like a vacation."

Another pilot displayed a pipe Newkirk gave him when the lieutenant left for Burma.

"A little souvenir, just in case," he quoted Newkirk as saying.

Lieut. Newkirk's full name was John Van Kuren Newkirk. He was the son of L. H. Newkirk, a New York city attorney who lives in White Plains, N. Y.

His widow, the former Virginia Jane Dunham, 22, of Lansing, Mich., is employed as a stenographer in a defense training school at Los Angeles.

Newkirk once was a choir boy in New York's Cathedral of St. John the Divine and was nicknamed "Sissy."

He was graduated from Scarsdale High School and prepared for naval aviation at Rensselear Polytechnic Institute, Troy, N. Y. He completed training for an ensign's commission at Pensacola, Fla., in September, 1939.

Japs' Invasion of Siberia Seen Near

By DREW MIDDLETON

LONDON, March 25 (AP)—The consensus of military opinion as spring heralds the great battles of 1942 is that the advantages to Japan of an invasion of Siberia outweigh the dangers and the attack may come soon—before the Nazis launch their drive in western Russia.

Even though Japan is deeply involved in the southern Pacific, military sources point out that the rewards of success in an assault on Siberia and Vladivostok, the U. S. S. R.'s big Pacific port, are too rich for the Japanese general staff to ignore.

First and most important is Vladivostok.

United States bombers based there would be within easy range not only of Tokyo and Yokohama but also Nagasaki, the great Japanese naval base, which is only 650 miles by air.

On the other hand, Vladivostok could be a secondary Japanese base for attacks on Alaska.

Secondly, there is the grand strategic design of the Axis based on a diversion of United Nations forces. Only the Soviet, so far, has been able to concentrate its armies on one fighting front.

Thus, an attack by Japan on the east ahead of a German thrust in western Russia could have two beneficial effects for the Axis, it is reasoned. It might draw Russian forces eastward or, at least, compel the Russians to hold some troops in reserve against the possibility of a Japanese advance beyond Siberia.

Russia's strength in Siberia is not known. The Axis claims to have identified units of the First and Second Red Banner Armies, which once formed part of the Siberian garrison, in western Russia.

Observers generally agree that Japan may be spurred to attack on the belief of her generals that the U. S. S. R. has drained at least some power from Siberia.

Conversely, it is pointed out, the Japanese have used relatively small forces in Malaya and Java.

Jessel, Wife to Aid Benefit for Buddies

Lois Andrew Jessel and her famous comedian-husband, George Jessel, today joined the ranks of top-flight stars of the stage, screen and radio who will do their part for the boys in the service at Boston Garden on Easter Monday night.

TRUDY ERWIN

To Perform at Show

The show is part of the project sponsored for service men by the Boston Daily Record-Evening American and Sunday Advertiser.

Kay Kyser

These newspapers have raised a fund to build a Clubhouse in Boston. Every ticket sold for the Boston Garden on Easter Monday night will aid in the furnishing of the clubhouse.

George Jessel will be in town with his new show, "George Jessel's High Kickers," and the glamorous Lois will be appearing at the Rio Casino. Both have already given their time and talent for the boys under arms.

WORKS FOR OUR BOYS

Maestro Kay Kyser himself, capped and gowned, will give his concert and show, complete with laughs, and will then play for general dancing.

This is just one more evidence of the rousing patriotism of Kay Kyser, who has done such valiant and unselfish work for the boys in the armed forces.

Together with Jerry Lester, the comic, who was making a tour of eastern camps with "Hit Parade," Kyser shares the honor of being the first famed radio personality to go right into the camps themselves.

Since that time, Kay Kyser and his gang — Harry Babbitt, Sully Mason, Ish Kabibble, Dorothy Dunn and Trudy Erwin—have appeared at many other camps and posts.

FIRST CALL TO DANCE

And on Easter Monday night at the Boston Garden they will again be on hand, working for the boys under arms through these newspapers—theOl' Perfesser in Person and his College of Musical Knowledge.

And for the first time in New England on that night, the public will have an opportunity after the music-and-laugh show to dance to Kay Kyser's "Makes You Want to Dance" music.

Tickets will go on sale today at Boston Garden, Arena, Jordan's and Filene's. They will be available at $1 and $1.50, with a few boxseats to be had at $2.20 each.

There will be a more complete announcement later on of plans for the Buddies Clubhouse, but meanwhile, be sure to reserve Monday night, April 6, for a gala night of jollity at the Boston Garden with Kay Kyser and his gang.

The Ol' Perfesser's latest film, "Playmates," with John Barrymore, Ginny Simms, Lupe Velez and Patsy Kelly, is now playing at the Paramount and Fenway Theaters.

Manila Bay Forts, Bataan Bombed Again

WASHINGTON, March 25 (AP)—The Japanese aerial bombardment on harbor defenses of Manila bay and American-Filipino positions in Bataan were resumed today, the War Department reported in a communique, and continued enemy ground activity in Bataan indicated arrival of Japanese reinforcements.

The bombing attack was carried out by 27 bombers and some smaller planes, the department said, but there was no report on results.

Only slight damage was inflicted yesterday in a bombardment by 54 heavy Japanese bombers, the department has said.

Reports of local skirmishes, with Philippine troops successful, in the vicinity of Digos on the west shore of Davao Gulf, Mindanao, also were received by the department.

India Favors Cripps' Plan

NEW DELHI, India, March 25 (AP)—Sir Stafford Cripps held his first conference with Congress party leaders on his proposals for Indian freedom today amid indications the plan he had brought from London was meeting with a favorable reception.

Favorable comment was heard in the central legislative assembly lobbies as that body went into session, with both Congress party and Moslem League members stating the latest proposals met the demands of all political parties in that a self-governing India would have the right to secede from the British empire.

The first non-official Indian leader to be received by Cripps today was Maulana Abdul Kalan Azad, president of the Indian National Congress party.

Less than two hours later Sir Stafford was closeted with Azad's principal rival leader, Mohammed Ali Jinnah of the Moslem League.

Melrose Watchman Dies of Fire Shock

George Angle, 51, a watchman, of Goodyear ave., Melrose, who suffered shock and collapsed when an explosion tipped an annex apart as fire swept the plant of the Puritan Furniture Co in Washington st., Melrose, died today at the Melrose Hospital.

Flames from a grass fire spread to the wooden annex between two main buildings of the furniture concern. When the fire reached several drums of lacquer, a blast shattered the walls, showering firemen with blazing debris. Loss was estimated at $3500.

'Office Wife' Divorce Suit Arguments Open

WORCESTER, March 25—Arguing for the husband in the divorce and separate support suits of Martin Van Buren Coe, specialist, and Catherine Collins Coe, beautiful blonde wife, Atty. Samuel Perman declared today that her case was one bolstered only by "suspicion and inuendo."

Mrs. Coe is seeking separate support from the well-known horseman, naming brunette Dawn Allen, his former secretary and alleged "office wife," as co-respondent. In a cross-petition charging cruelty, Coe seeks a divorce.

In his argument in probate court, Atty. Perman charged that Mrs. Coe had "a fanciful imagination" that her husband was carrying on an affair with Miss Allen, a premise wholly unsupported by evidence during the six days of trial.

"She has the temperament of a woman who would make two children nameless in order to gain her end," the lawyer said.

The attorney was commenting on testimony by Mrs. Coe that her husband had admitted being the father of one three-year-old child, and her connected testimony that there were two children in the household of Miss Allen, a divorcee.

"Mrs. Coe," said the attorney further, "was ashamed of her husband. But while she called him anti-social, she did nothing to induce her friends or his friends to her home."

Beal Perjury Charge Killed By Court

Motions to squash indictment charges of perjury against John W. Beal, former state public works commissioner, and Anthony F. Spinelli, Milton contractor, were allowed today in Middlesex superior court by Judge Lewis R. Goldberg.

Beal, his brother, Horatio W. Beal, and Spinelli have still standing against them, however, indictment charges of conspiring to corruptly give, offer and promise Mayor John W. Lyons a gift and gratuity with intent to influence his official actions."

The alleged conspiracy lived according to the indictment, from Jan. 1, 1938, to Sept. 1, 1940, while Lyons was mayor of Cambridge. He is now serving a prison term in connection with irregularities in Cambridge public works construction, out of which the present charges against the Beal brothers and Spinelli also grew.

Arguments on the motions to quash the perjury indictments against John W. Beal and Spinelli were made Monday before Judge Goldberg.

Defense Atty. Arthur F. Buckley had argued that the perjury indictments were "indefinite, vague and uncertain" and that they were procured on "incompetent and insufficient evidence."

Asst. Atty. Robert F. Bradley contended that the indictments were drawn in the exact language of the statutes.

MARATHON RACE SUNDAY INSTEAD OF MONDAY LIKELY

The B. A. A. Marathon may be held Sunday, April 19, instead of the announced date of Monday, April 20, if advocates of uninterrupted war production gain their point.

Supporters of the move today urged the shift since many war workers would not be able to witness the grind unless they left their jobs. They said some of the runners are employed on vital defense projects and might not be able to enter if the race is run Monday.

"We'd be glad to run it Sunday," Walter Brown, B. A. A. official said. "We've held it on Mondays in past years because we did not think we could receive permission to hold it on Sundays."

Governor Saltonstall while declining to sponsor any shift, is understood to favor Sunday for the race since plans are under way for a monster patriotic parade to be held either Army Day, April 6 or during the Patriot's Day week-end.

Another point offered by advocates of the change was the reduced traffic disruption on a Sunday since most gas stations will be closed and auto traffic will be light.

Officials of the B. A. A. are awaiting further information before making a decision, Brown said.

Dr. Henry M. Wriston, president of Brown University and Dr. John H. Williams, dean of the Harvard Graduate School, will be the principal speakers.

Fil'-let or Fil-lay'

Fil'-let is correct. But even if you ask for fil-lay' — when you get 40-Fathom, you'll pronounce it perfect. These waste-free cuts of solid white meat, wrapped and ready for the broiler, oven or frying pan make just about the finest dinner a man could ask for.

And what a variety! Fillets of Haddock, Mackerel, Cod, Sole, Halibut — of course; and others, perhaps not so familiar to you, but equally tempting. Golden Smoked Fillets, sweet, Pink Ocean Perch, Atlantic Salmon, Catfish — just to name a few.

"Thank-Yous" For Gifts

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

1—Should shower presents be acknowledged as well as wedding presents?

2—If so, is ordinary correspondence paper correct, or should I buy smaller cards? PEGGY.

1—Write a note of thanks to every friend who gives a gift at a shower. These follow-up notes needn't be long, but they must be appreciative.

2—You may use your regular letter-paper for these notes. If you are planning to buy special note-paper, I suggest that instead of buying cards, you supply yourself with the half-size, double sheeted paper that is so convenient.

Pattern 9928 may be ordered only in misses' and women's sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 requires 3¼ yards 35-inch fabric. The Masked Jury
CASE OF WIDOWER
SHOULD HE REMARRY?

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN OF THE JURY: I am a widower, 50 years old, and have three children, 19, 15 and 11 years of age. Two years ago I met a widow five years younger than I am.

She is a good woman, all that it takes to make a good wife and mother, and I have grown to love her. I am afraid, though, my children would not make her happy and would resent the marriage.

She has no children and does not have to marry me for a meal ticket. I can give her a nice home and living and I know she loves me and likes my children. I have been considering waiting until my children grew older before I remarried, but now I am afraid to take the chance of losing her and I know I will never find another one like her.

As it is I am losing everything I have and all I make because I have no one to take care of my home. She is a smart woman and would make me a good wife. Should I marry her now despite my children?

HOW JURY VOTED
Women: Yes, four; no, two
Men: Yes, six; no, none

HOUSEWIFE: Yes. Parents make a mistake in letting children run their lives. He has a perfect right to try to be happy again.

DRY CLEANER: Yes. If a man with three kids can get a woman to marry him for love he would be crazy not to.

HOUSEWIFE: No. I think he's more interested in a housekeeper than he is in a wife.

QUARRY WORKER: Yes. A man of 50 and a woman of 46 ought to know what they're doing.

HOSIERY TOPPER (woman): Yes. His children are grown now and should understand enough about life to agree to his marriage.

CARTOONIST: Yes. It is natural for children to feel that way sometimes, but he could bring them around by confiding in them.

HOUSE MANAGER (woman): Yes. Even though the children do resent the marriage she can probably win them over in time.

MANUFACTURER: Yes; that's his privilege. He would be foolish to deny himself happiness for children who sooner or later will marry themselves and leave him.

FOOD CHECKER (woman): Yes. Maybe he is all wrong about the children not making her happy. He is their father and he should teach them some manners.

TAXI STARTER: Yes. If he waits for the children to grow up he'll be an old man before he knows it.

DRESSMAKER: No. He has no right to bring a nice woman into a home where she won't be happy.

COST ACCOUNTANT: Yes. I think it would be a very sensible thing for him to do.

Beauty

YOU CAN BE BEAUTIFUL—Spring picture complete . . . with blossoms on bonnet and shoulder, tied up in veils, and her hair a tumble of shining waves . . . this is Anne Baxter. And the beauty of a perfect complexion comes into its own! Today Arline Gould tells of a wonderful method for bringing perfection to even the most troubled kind of complexion.

CLEANSING MEAL HELPS SOLVE BLACKHEAD PROBLEM

By ARLINE GOULD

THEY SAY that one shouldn't make tragedies of trifles, nor shoot butterflies with rifles . . . that for sanity-shaking troubles . . . there's no recipe like laughter. But you can't just laugh off a blackhead-blemished skin! Those infinitesimal complexion-spoilers, choked pores with sooty tops, are the biggest little troubles of many an otherwise pretty face in the springtime . . . but you can remove them and keep them off the premises forever after . . . with the simplest of washing routines

There are several forms of blemish-scrubbing "washes," but for one which is as gentle as it is corrective . . . which leaves your face soft as satin . . . there's nothing better than a cleansing meal which consists of pulverized herbs and almond meal

It has been specially made for sensitive skins . . . and even those with pimple eruptions may have it without coming out raw and red after a "wash."

Use it every day . . . twice a day, if you like. Take a teaspoonful of the meal and mix it with water until it is the consistency of heavy cream. Then manipulate it over your face, on the soft pads of your fingertips, with a rotary motion. Concentrate on oil accumulative points—around the nose, chin and forehead

Do this for a full minute, at the end of which time the creamy paste should feel dry under your fingertips. That's the sign for discontinuing the rubbing. Dash your face and throat with lots of cold water, and then pat dry with a tissue or towel.

If your neck has taken to showing a "bumpy" texture, much like goose pimples, or if fur collars have discolored it a little, the cleansing meal wash is just the thing to smooth and clarify it.

To learn about this unusual cleansing meal, of pulverized herbs and almond meal, for blackheads, oiliness and bumpy texture, phone Arline Gould, LIBerty 4000, except the week-end, or write, care of the Boston Evening American, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

NEWS FOR MODERN WOMEN

• FOOD •

By Martha Lee

DO A FULL DAY'S WORK, good hard work, and you'll be hungry. Husbands and sons giving their all to the war effort in one of the many heavy industries are mighty hungry when they return home at the end of the day. Desserts like these below are energy-givers and are rich in vitamins and minerals, too. They are good to eat and good for those who eat them.

BAKED INDIAN PUDDING

4 cups scalded milk
2-3 cup molasses
1-3 cup sugar
6 tbsp. yellow cornmeal
1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. cinnamon or ginger
¼ cup butter
1 cup cold milk

Add molasses, sugar, cornmeal, salt, spice and butter to scalded milk. Cook over hot water 20 minutes or until mixture is thick, stirring constantly. Turn into 2-quart casserole, then pour the remaining cold milk over the mixture. Do not stir. Bake in a slow oven (300 deg. F.) for 3 hours without stirring. Serve warm with or without cream. Makes 8 servings

PRUNE CREAM FILLED PUDDING

PRUNE FILLING

1½ cups cooked prunes
¾ cup diced or crushed pineapple
½ cup liquid in which prunes were cooked
3 tbsp. cornstarch
½ cup granulated sugar
Few grains salt

Pit prunes and cut into small pieces. Combine with remaining ingredients in a saucepan and stir until well blended. Bring to a boil and cook and stir until thick (about 5 minutes). Cool.

PRUNE Cream Filled Pudding

CREAM FILLING

2 cups milk
6 tbsp. granulated sugar
Few grains salt
3 tbsp. cornstarch
3 eggs
1 tsp. lemon extract
1 layer sponge or butter cake (9-inch).

Combine 1½ cups milk, sugar and salt in top of double boiler and heat to just below boiling point. Blend remaining ½ cup milk, cornstarch and slightly beaten eggs. Add to hot milk and cook and stir until thick, but do not let boil. Stir in flavoring; cool. Cut a circle from top center of cake about 2 inches from edges and leave bottom whole. Fill center of cake with cream filling and circle with prune filling. Replace cake top over cream filling. Garnish with whipped cream if desired. Slice to serve. Makes 10 servings

STEAMED FRUIT PUDDING

1 cup kidney suet
1 cup seeded raisins
1 cup currants
½ cup finely sliced citron
1½ cups flour
1 tsp. baking soda
1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. cinnamon
½ tsp. cloves
½ tsp. nutmeg
1 cup grated raw potato
1 cup grated raw carrot
1 cup molasses

Chop suet very fine and toss together with raisins, currants and citron. Mix and sift dry ingredients and add them, then the grated potato and carrot. Add the molasses and mix all together thoroughly. Pour into greased 1½-quart pudding mold, cover and steam for 2½ hours. Serve with favorite sauce.

The Correct Thing

COURTESY TOWARDS YOUR BROTHER!

If you want your young brother to be polite to your friends treat him courteously in their presence. If you treat him as an equal he'll try to appear adult, but if you show you consider him a nuisance, he'll be a nuisance!

Fashion

CASUAL SUITS don't always ensemble up with casual accessories. If you do it with taste and finesse, you can get a lot more in the way of striking effect by being a little daring in your "togethering." CBS actress, Melinda Leighton, carries it off successfully by topping her Glen Plaid suit, featuring club collar and patch pockets, with a black sailor draped with jersey. Short suede gloves are black, and the suit plaid is unrelieved gray and black. When she opens the jacket, a daffodil yellow crepe blouse shows as a gay note of contrast.—ANNICE BRINK.

GLORIFIED BUTTONHOLES CATCH GLORIFIED BUTTONS

By BETTINA BEDWELL

ONE 1942 Spring way to make the simple jacket ensemble a personality is Charles Cooper's way of giving this outfit decorative buttons and buttonholes. Cooper makes many dark blue ensembles that are excellent for practical wear all spring, and he pipes the buttonholes of the jackets in very gay-colored materials.

The one sketched, for instance, is a navy blue ensemble, and the long-ish jacket has 10 red buttonholes, which fasten over porcelain flower buttons in red, yellow and white

The jacket has a dropped shoulder and wide absolutely straight, sleeves that are finished by white pique bands

The one-piece dark blue dress has a skirt pleated at the front, and the round neckline and short sleeves are finished with narrow bands of white pique.

The waist is softened by fullness at the shoulders and caught into tucks at the waistline.

Learn From Our Enemies

By ELEANOR ROOSEVELT

SEATTLE, WASH., TUESDAY—I have not spent such a quiet peaceful day in a long time as I did yesterday on Mercer Island with my daughter. Of course, my very active three-year-old grandson can make life fairly busy, because he has an imagination which can always think up new games.

He is either under the bed or rolling over it, or finding something which can become an object of interest and injury. Fortunately, the weather is good and something outside usually becomes more tempting than the society of his elders within doors.

Several months ago, I spoke at the Town Hall in New York city with various other people, on a subject which seemed important to all of us—"What must we do to improve the health and well being of the American people?"

The Town Hall offered prizes for 1000-word essays by adults, and by young people below the age of 21. I have just heard that the first prize in the adult group was won by Dr. Jacob Sobel, a well-known New York pediatrician.

He based his essay on the point of view that only the nation which has healthy children has a future as a nation, and included a detailed, specific plan for a better health and education program.

The reason I am telling you of this particular essay is that his premise seems to me one which we should consider very carefully today.

THE TENDENCY is to feel that anything which is not directly connected with war production, the building of ships, airplanes or other military equipment and the induction into the military services of an ever-increasing number of young men, is of no importance in the war effort.

If we fail to this misapprehension we may find ourselves not only handicapped in winning the war, but very much handicapped in winning the peace.

The best machinery in the world has to be handled by intelligent people and unless we continue the services we have set up for better health, education and recreation for the children and young people of today, not only the future of this war, but the future of the country is in danger.

WE SHOULD LEARN something even from our enemies. Germany has paid great attention to the very things which we are already neglecting in our haste to make war, something which can only be won on a military basis and has nothing to do with what happens on the civilian side of the picture.

Just the other day, I found in the crowded industrial areas near San Diego and Los Angeles that one of the most agitated questions was how day nurseries and nursery schools could be set up.

The lack of them slows up production on the part of the women, many of them mothers, who are employed in the aircraft factories.

We have actually created [illegible] by our inattention.

A SPRING OFFENSIVE is in the making . . . not on distant battlefields, but right here in Boston, where our first crop of war debs since 1918 will "come out" from the seclusion of exclusive finishing schools to claim their place in the social sun.

This year's debutantes are destined to be called defense debs or something of the sort . . . for they are making their social bows in a crucial war year . . .

Naturally they are a little bit envious of their sisters and cousins who had fabulous parties in the era when Harvard students actually went to Harvard and didn't march or drive tanks and airplanes at army camps . . .

They have no serious regrets, however, for they'll have their parties—though smaller and more conservative than usual . . . and they'll be able to get real satisfaction out of helping our country's war effort with civilian defense, Red Cross and charity work . . .

• • •

THIS YEAR'S debs will be no social butterflies, but serious minded American youngsters doing their bit to help win the war . . . Already a number of them are planning to take courses in motor mechanics, radio broadcasting and receiving, and we have even heard of one who is going to take up welding . . .

Though Uncle Sam's armed forces have depleted their ranks lines, this year's ball will have one advantage over their peacetime sisters . . . Harvard, from whence cometh the majority of escorts for Boston's debs will be in session all summer . . . So, instead of a limited number of large and expensive balls, we predict that there will be a lot of small, informal, yet highly enjoyable, deb parties held on weekends throughout the summer . . .

Among the eighteen-year-old daughters of Boston society who will be ready to start the first spinnings of their social wheels upon graduation from exclusive finishing schools in June are Mary Amory, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis I. Amory of Marlborough street; Hannah White, whose father Major Henry White, is already had quite a bit of first hand experience in the war as he was in charge of duties in France in 1918; Cynthia Rogers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. Wadsworth Rogers of Chestnut Hill, who is a member of the graduating class at Wheaton, and Dorothy Warren who has been prominent in junior league circles.

The program, which will benefit the British War Relief Society, will include a feature match between Alice Marble and Malcolm Hill, former men's state champ of Massachusetts.

SUNDAY ADVERTISER

OUR DAILY CITATION: To the Todd-Bath Iron Shipbuilding Corporation of South Portland, Me., for the history-making feat of launching three ships at once. This is the way to produce the ocean-going vessels that will make the United States victorious in war and peace.

IN the very citadel of our humanitarian-minded government there is a numerous, loyal, zealous and proverbially efficient class of workers whose pay has not been raised for 17 years.

These workers cannot strike, picket, boycott, agitate, lobby or indulge in any militant demand for higher wages.

They are the Post Office clerks, Civil Service employes of the United States.

Throughout a generation this able, conscientious and hard-working unit of labor has watched living costs rise and wage schedules skyrocket, without any compensating increase in its own pay.

The only recourse is to petition Congress and then to hope for favorable action.

Such a petition has been filed, in the form of H. R. 6486, by Congressman Martin Sweeney of Ohio.

But the Committee empowered to act on the bill has not yet considered the evidence. No report has been made, favorable or unfavorable.

While H. R. 6486 thus knocks in vain at the door of Congress, H. R. 1057, another measure providing increased seniority pay for certain higher grades of postal employes, is faring better and seems certain of Senatorial approval.

Equity demands the same consideration for H. R. 6486, since it is more general in scope.

Persistence in neglecting or ignoring this measure would be deplorable callousness in a Congress that talks so well about social advances and friendship for the working man.

The Post Office clerks are LABOR—labor that has actually earned and is entitled to a raise.

Their work and their loyalty to it are vital to the country's communications.

They are highly trained, markedly devoted and hard to replace.

All these reasons, pointed by the additional circumstance of their deference and reticence, make favorable action on their claim a clear case of justice and fairness.

GRAYING HAIR cannot be prevented, believes Dr. Ales Hrdlicka, Smithsonian Institution curator of physical anthropology.

This Washington savant, after a long study of hair colors and forms of various races, has reached the conclusion that silver hair means a "dampening of the fires of life" attendant upon old age and that there is nothing to be done about it.

This is only one man's opinion; there are undoubtedly others, a great many of them more hopeful.

Science has solved a variety of beauty problems, and it will probably find a way to restore the natural color to hair.

BUT WHY WORRY? Gray or white hair does not mean that the possessor has ceased to be useful.

Benjamin Franklin was 81 when he presided over the Constitutional Convention.

Commodore Vanderbilt, between the ages of 70 and 83, added about $100,000,000 to his already large fortune.

Verdi at 74 produced his masterpiece, "Otello," and when he was 85, he wrote "Ave Maria," "Stabat Mater" and "Te Deum."

And the artist Titian was 93 when he painted the historic picture, "Battle of Lepanto."

All of these great men had white hair, but none deplored the fact.

"DON'T WHISTLE AT GIRLS" is the ultimatum at the Douglas Aircraft factory in Santa Monica, Calif.

Since employment of women in the plant became general, the gentlemen mechanics had been accustomed to hail the appearance of a particularly attractive new one with various vocal evidences of approval.

But the girls got together, formed a "reprisal committee" and began to salute the men with such remarks as "Look at Tarzan," "Isn't he beautiful?" and "What a Romeo!"

We can't believe that the girls are as serious as they appear. They may object to such embarrassing greetings as whistling and discussions of their symmetrical figures.

But on the other hand, there is a strong probability that they don't want to be ignored entirely.

If any employe of the Douglas factory approached a woman with the remark, "You are the most beautiful girl I've ever seen," it's safe to say that she would smile just as broadly as any other woman would [illegible]

A GALA EASTER may be expected, despite emergency conditions. That is the encouraging news from Washington.

Students of fashion trends report increased demands for color and quality clothing.

Hats will be brighter and more decorative than ever, and, in many instances, more daring and eccentric.

This is a hopeful sign. We need optimism in wartime, and nothing provides it better or more effectively than a completely new wardrobe.

For thy sake, Tobacco, I
Would do anything but die.
—CHARLES LAMB.

SAID Bulwer-Lytton: "The man who smokes thinks like a sage and acts like a samaritan!" And Abraham Lincoln on Aug. 17, 1864, sent the following telegram to Gen. Grant at the front: "Hold on with a bulldog grip, and chew and smoke as much as possible." This latter might interest that government official who recently opposed rationing cigarettes to soldiers on the ground that tobacco was a "luxury" . . . Add eye witness accounts. From Keye Lloyd of Chicago, "In World War I Gen. MacArthur was in command of the 84th Brigade composed of the 167th and 168th Infantry. It happens I was a first lieutenant in the 167th and, during the St. Mihiel drive, I observed Gen. MacArthur about 40 yards to my left boldly pressing forward with us doughboys making up the 'second wave' and exposed to plenty of shell fire. I was then very proud to serve under him, and now, of course, am prouder than ever" . . . Hedy Lamarr says: "Low-pitched voices are best for that warmth and resonance which stirs the opposite sex."

SAYS HE: "The barbers have learned their lesson. Nowadays they never speak to a customer unless spoken to," writes a Chicagoan. "But the manicurists continue to chatter on. They seem to think they have to ooze charm and appeal. If you don't answer them, they keep nagging you to talk. Because if you don't talk they think their charm is not in good working order. Who started this idea of women spending so much time trying to enchant men? My stenographer puts it on for me in the morning; at lunch the waitress starts giving me a Theda Bara smile, and so it goes all day. And, so help me, the other night when I came home tired my wife began to vamp me. Seems she had been reading an article on how to keep a husband interested."

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS: Q—Suppose you get a big bang out of those Brooklyn boys, the Dodgers? A—There isn't a Brooklyn boy on the Dodgers. They are just a lot of hired entertainers. Glad to see them win, but I liked them just as well when they were funnier . . . Q—Do you like Spanish food? A—Not at all. I particularly don't like hot tamales. However, I like Spanish music and Spanish dancers . . . Q—Remember "The Blue Paradise?" Helene Nora singing "Comrades"? Tom Nawn in "Pat and the Genii"? . . . A—I remember the musical show "The Blue Paradise." Cecil Lean starred in it. Do not recall Helene Nora. Have heard of Tom Nawn's vaudeville sketch but never saw it.

ALMOST CONFIDENTIAL: Am asked to mention Be-Kind-to-Animals-Week which is April 19 to 25. Glad to do so. But how about that Be-Kind-to-Each-Other-Week which this department has been suggesting for some time? . . . A New York night club has been named Kelly's Stable. In Philadelphia there is a night spot called Benny the Bum's. My favorite night club entertainers of all time were Clayton, Jackson and Durante . . . Says a Las Vegas, Nev., baker proudly: "The bakery trade is the first trade mentioned in the Bible with the reference to Pharoah dreaming a baker brought him a basket of pastry" . . . For house pets Jane Hayes has a Siamese cat, a French poodle, a duck and cat. All these pets sleep together.

PASSING BY: Henry Jerome, America's shortest bandleader. Measures 5 feet, 2 inches. Mr. Jerome is also one of the few bow tie wearers left on Broadway. Incidentally, Sherman Billingsley, the restaurateur, is trying to revive bow tie wearing. However, I regret to say Mr. Billingsley favors the ready-made bow tie. This seems to indicate he is not really a bow tie wearer at heart. Three of the first things my father taught me were how to shave with a straight razor, how to lead with my left and how to tie a bow tie.

ASIDES: Observed Clarence Budington Kelland: "It takes a man 25 years to learn to be married. It is a wonder women have the patience to wait for it." Remarked Ellen Glasgow: "Husbands are safe to lead but dangerous to drive" . . . Writes a young woman of Detroit: "I am 29 years old, not such a bad looker but am no different from most of the rest of the Detroit girls except that I have beer for breakfast" . . . A Westerner claims the services of a chick-sexer (an expert who determines the birth of newly born chickens) is unnecessary. He says the way to determine the sex of a chick is by picking it up. If it remains silent it is a hen. If it peeps it is a rooster.

SIDELIGHTS: Another poem in honor of a feline is Vachel Lindsay's "Dirge to a Righteous Cat" . . . Barrister Hyacinthe Ringrose had something when he wrote: "It is abominable for a lawyer to try a case before a jury, displaying the while dangling from his watch-chain or fastened in a button-hole emblems of secret or fraternal societies" . . . As for the best dance team ever, Irving Cahn says it was Moss and Fontana . . . Writes Mrs. Leo Hooper of Roseville, Mich.: "March 8 was my husband's birthday. It was also my birthday. And also our eighth wedding anniversary. We have three beautiful children. My husband, who is 28, is a tall, dark and handsome fellow from Alabama."

Broadway's Voice

PUBLIC BACKS STAND ON UNIFORMS

By Dorothy Kilgallen

NEW YORK, March 25—Sometime when Broadway is casting a real fighting suffragette, a votes-for-women-to-heck-with-the-men gal who scolds, orates, threatens, smashes conventions and winds up getting exactly what she wants, I should like to see Katharine Hepburn get the part. Of course, it would be type casting of the easiest kind, and no credit to the producer, but I think it would be more fun to watch than Katie the ingenue or Katie the penitent young wife.

The Hepburn girl must be just about the personification of what early feminists were trying to achieve. Her record in Hollywood let alone in the theater, is enough to make her the patron saint of lasses who get tired of toadying to men and mores. She went out to the land of glamour and yes-girls and elaborate pretense and thumbed her nose at the whole setup.

KATHARINE HEPBURN

She retained her Connecticut-Park ave. accent, refused to be sweet to anyone, remained doggedly intellectual, broke appointments, talked up to the awesome producers sitting behind their Mussolini desks, and apologized to nobody.

* * *

THE STORY of her sale of "Woman of the Year" to Louis B. Mayer on her own financial terms and with the provision that she get Spencer Tracy to play opposite her—this before "Woman of the Year" was more than a bare outline by Michael Kanin and Ring Lardner, Jr.—is one that has few parallels in the history of Hollywood glamour girls

But then, Katie has few parallels. She is, as I've said before, the only woman I ever saw in Twenty One in pants. She apparently is so modern as to be unhappy without a television set, because when she rented Edgar Bergen's home on the Coast for six weeks she had one installed.

Bergen is the only one I've ever known to get the better of Katharine in an argument, and that might be because his girl manager, Mary Hanrahan, is something of a feminist herself. Kate and Mary clashed when Kate wanted to build an outdoor fireplace in the patio of the house, and was all ready to lay the bricks with her own beautiful hands. But she didn't. She lost that one.

She can afford to, though. So far, the score is all on her side and the winnings are all in her pocket.

IF I WERE among those in jurisdiction at the Stage Door Canteen I'd insist that all those civilians who try to "crash"—although they're plainly told it's only for men in uniform—be admitted. But made to wash dishes . . . As a veteran Sabbath-walker along Theater Row in the days when Sunday was a day of rest in the theater, I am jolted a little by the playhouse activity that now makes the entertainment belt as noisy on Sunday as it is on Saturday. I approve of Sunday performances in the interests of business and of those who can't get to the theater on any other day, but it does seem a little sad that the theater can't have at least a once-a-week rest, if only to give the producers time to have the chewing gum scraped off the sidewalks in front of the showhouses.

* * *

I'VE RECEIVED almost unprecedented basketsfull of mail on a recent essay in this space on the subject of women in uniforms in night clubs; most of the missives in agreement with my notion that ladies' uniforms don't go well with dancing and cocktails. Major Paul C. Raborg commented:

"The basic objection to women in uniform at night is that such a garb is masculine.

"Every enlisted man and every officer in our armed services today is facing prolonged periods of service during which he may be deprived of all femininity. Therefore every one of our fighting men at the moment desires above everything in the world, as far as his fleeting seconds of recreation are concerned, to bask—no, surfeit himself, to the limit of his capacity in the sunshine of true femininity, which definitely means the frilliest, daintiest perfumed womanhood that is possible."

Another reader, Mr. L. D. Taylor, adds:

"I am heartily in favor of all activities such as the Red Cross, A. W. V. S., and any other work that women feel they can assist, but I think that when the day's work is finished they should certainly change to other clothes, as I am sure that men do not like to sit opposite a uniform at dinner or in a night club, or at the theater."

BOSTON after DARK

By GEORGE HOLLAND

EXCLUSIVE: The slim young Connecticut redhead who lifted herself literally by the bootstraps (she always having worn jodhpurs and spurs) from a rear shelf where the movies kept "box-office poison" into a position of glittering stardom, is coming to Boston . . . And having scrambled a few metaphors in our enthusiasm at the news, we can pass along immediately the salient facts . . . Katharine Hepburn in Philip Barry's "Without Love," produced by the Theater Guild, is coming to the Colonial Theater the night of Easter Monday.

IT IS GOOD AND UNEXPECTED news, and brightens considerably the prospects of the Easter season theatrically . . . The announcement of La Katie's return to Boston in a new play was unexpected because it was thought the new Barry play was ready for its Broadway showing . . . Original plans for the venture encompassed a brief tryout period in upper New York state before braving the New York DAAN Patrol.

ALL CONCERNED IN THE PROJECT, however, have reputations as meticulous workmen . . . Both as writer and director, Mr. Barry is satisfied with nothing less than perfection . . . The determined and courageous Hepburn is a tireless worker . . . The Theater Guild's vast reputation devolved, too, from the attention to detail its original directorate devoted to products of its artistic workshop . . . The Boston engagement is seen therefore as a fortnight of final polishing before the play Manhattan awaits most eagerly this portentous spring begins its Metropolitan career . . . For those who are interested in intimate details of impending productions, Miss Hepburn is part-owner as well as star, and Mr. Barry, by holding an equal amount of stock (23 per cent of the whole) is likewise a proprietor, sharing in profits or well, there won't be any losses . . . The Guild maintains control through its 54 per cent participation, and, as simple arithmetic will show, there are no other partners.

ONCE OVER LIGHTLY: Walter O'Keefe is announcing a musical revue by the title of "Once Over Lightly" . . . Lois Andrew Jessel was harried by "permit trouble" almost to the hour of her advertised appearance at the Rio Casino . . . It wasn't until 4:30 in the afternoon that the gorgeous young bride-mother (Lois is Mrs. George Jessel in private life) secured a paper from the educational division of the labor department authorizing her appearance . . . In a gown of deep blue, Miss Andrew captivated a large premiere audience . . . Her voice is clear and pleasing.

TWO BOSTON GIRLS are on the high-road to fame as songwriters because of a chance meeting here with Frances Faye . . . Appearing on their own at The Mayfair, where Miss Faye is thrilling throngs of customers, the girls asked her to scan a ditty they had composed, entitled "I'll Shut My Mouth" . . . Frances must have been extremely courteous to them because when she appeared at her hotel a bundle of flowers was awaiting her . . .. The card attached gave the names "Rosalind Hershenson and Ruth Bryer," and it wasn't until then that The Mayfair's star had remembered that she had neglected to jot down the aspiring song-writers' names at the time they had introduced themselves.

THE NAMES ASSUMED real importance when the dynamic Frances started humming over the melody of "I'll Shut My Mouth" . . . It seemed to have everything, including rhythm and melody, everything perhaps except a "punch" . . . Frances, who has real stature in jazz circles as the writer of "Well All Right," soon fixed that . . . She added "for Uncle Sam" to the lyrics, and some other smart touches . . . You may soon expect to be hearing from a Boston-authored song, entitled, "I'll Shut My Mouth for Uncle Sam" . . . Miss Faye already has arranged for its publication, and she will make a "soundie" of it next week . . . Miss Hershenson is reported to be a private secretary to a Boston business man.

FORTUNE SMILES ON DONNA REED

By Louella O. Parsons

Donna Reed

HOLLYWOOD, March 25—Several months ago Universal bought some song titles—just in case. Well, now they can hardly keep a straight face because among the also-rans is "Deep in the Heart of Texas," the number 1 tune in everybody's poll, including the Army camps.

Talk about turning up with the plum in the Christmas pudding—this is really it, for this means "U" acquires the leading song hit of the country for very small potatoes as far as price goes.

Jack Gross was the bright boy who accidentally grabbed "Deep in the Heart of Texas" before it became hot and he will produce what Universal expects to be the deluxe Western of the season.

I WAS EXCITED when I heard M-G-M had bought Eric Knight's book, "Lassie" for I had heard of it. Then I chatted with Kenneth McKenna, story editor, and he explained that "Lassie" was written years ago and is the story of a boy and a dog.

It was written long before "This Above All," Knight's best seller, was made by Darryl Zanuck with Joan Fontaine and Tyrone Power.

Harry Rapf has been assigned to "Lassie," and now he is searching for the right child and a collie who is important to the story.

WHEN A GIRL doesn't have to pose for Easter egg art or in bathing suits, she's on her way to bigger and better things. Well, Donna Reed, M-G-M's Cinderella girl, can forget all about the routine covers because she's going dramatic with the second best femme role in "Random Harvest."

Remember Kitty, the girl the hero thinks he loves only to be jilted by her? This is the part Donna gets and it is next in importance to Greer Garson's and Ronald Colman's.

She is doing all right for a little girl who came from Iowa less than a year ago and enrolled in Los Angeles City College. Donna registered in "The Bugle Sounds" with Wally Beery, even though she had little to do.

His daughter just welcomed her second child; Keenan Wynn, grandson of the late Frank Keenan, and Ed Wynn's son, is on the M-G-M lot on an acting contract; Mrs. Al Donahue, wife of the orchestra leader, expects her baby any day; Jane Withers' chum, Jeanne Howelett, keeping a date with Freddie Bartholomew; Hedy Lamarr created a mild sensation when the heel came off her shoe when she was shopping with George Montgomery. She finished making her purchases in one stockinged foot.

'CARMEN' AND 'LA BOHEME' TODAY'S MET OPERA FARE

By HARRIS NORGAN

Wagner's "Die Walkure," always a standby with the Metropolitan Opera, particularly on its visits to Boston, was given last night at the Metropolitan Theater with something of its old aplomb.

As everybody knows by this time, the current Met season is not its happiest. Certain "big" singers are missing for one reason and another —and it must be acknowledged that public sentiment is not warm for the German operas.

Second of the Ring cycle and exploiting the works and pomps of those pagan divinities of the Teutons who are in such disfavor these days, "Die Walkure" can hardly expect to escape the bane.

And that, no doubt, is the main reason why the house was not sold out. Nevertheless there was plenty of enthusiasm among those present for an eloquent performance of one of the great works of music drama.

Credit for this is due directly to the accomplished singers. Lotte Lehmann was there to lend her distinguished and practiced talents to the role of Sieglinde. Lauritz Melchior, world's champion Wagnerian tenor, could not go wrong as the daring, if ill fated, Siegmund. Surely Emanuel List, resonant basso, could sing Hunding even in his sleep. And Kerstin Thorborg, though she had sung the long role of Orpheus the night before, sang with ease the taxing measures of Fricka, the jealous.

It was not an easy night for Friedrich Schorr in the arduous role of Wotan. High notes are a hardship for him now. But the magnificent veteran, nevertheless, never fails to lend Wotan an air of power and majesty and tender compassion. His leave taking of Brunnhilde on the rough crags is always a memorable moment in any grand opera season.

Overcoming her unfortunate indisposition in "Lohengrin," the young and extremely personable Astrid Varnay made a gallant and charming Brunnhilde.

It will be "Carmen" for this afternoon, with Djanel, Jobin and Warren. And "Boheme" this evening, with Kullman, Baccaloni and Sayao.

'TO BE OR NOT TO BE' ENTERS ITS SECOND WEEK ON LOEW'S TWIN SCREENS

Carole Lombard In Perfect Exit

Having completed one of the most successful weeks in the history of the State and Orpheum Theaters . . . and the two biggest at Manhattan's Rivoli Theater . . . "To Be Or Not To Be" enters its second week at Loew's twin houses tomorrow.

Produced and directed by Ernst Lubitsch and starring Carole Lombard and Jack Benny, "To Be Or Not To Be" is easily the funniest and best picture either star ever made.

As a farewell to her countless fans it is perfectly in keeping with the late screen actress' gay and gallant temperament. The result . . . Miss Lombard couldn't have chosen a more appropriate, upsilling leave taking.

True, "To Be Or Not To Be" is a comedy and one dealing with the Nazis, but never for an instant does it fail to emphasize the Hitler menace. It has tremendously stirring sequences of drama.

The films locale is Warsaw and the story begins just before the Nazi invasion as a troupe of Polish players are ordered by native appeasers to cancel the anti-Nazi drama then in rehearsal.

When the invaders arrive, the pseudo Nazis, thoroughly rehearsed and expertly costumed, brilliantly come to the rescue of their on-the-spot countryman.

Benny and his supporting players . . . only Carole Lombard is the really fine artist in the company . . . ham it up beautifully to the complete rout of the real Nazis. The others are Felix Bressart, Lionel Atwill, Tom Dugan, Charles Halton and George Lynn.

Also holding over is "Brooklyn Orchid," new Hal Roach comedy with William Bendix, Joe Sawyer, Marjorie Woodworth and Grace Bradley.

Celebrity Series Deadline Is Set

Final date for renewals to the Aaron Richmond celebrity series, opening with the Ballet Theater in October, will be next Tuesday. More than 200 new applicants have entered their subscription at the Pierce building headquarters in Copley square.

Artists appearing in next season's course include Marian Anderson, Lotte Lehman, Richard Crooks and Polyna Stoska, vocalists; Jascha Heifetz, Fritz Kreisler, Sergei Rachmaninoff and Schnabel, instrumentalists.

Others are Bloch and Serkin, Ruth Draper, Lubashutz and Nemenoff, the Philadelphia Opera Company, the Trapp Family and the Don Cossacks.

There could be no finer epitaph to a gay and gallant lady than the late Carole Lombard's last film, "To Be Or Not To Be," in which she triumphs on Loew's twin screens.

Carrier Pigeons Star In New Army Film

Most striking cinematic accomplishment of the year, movie authorities hold, is the filming of a platoon of carrier pigeons doing Army close-order drill with military precision.

The feat of pigeons drilling en masse—such maneuvers as squads right, about face and parade rest—marks the first time such a thing has been done with feathered troupers and was accomplished in Paramount's Lady Carolyn Allen Jones comedy, "True to the Army."

DRIVE TO CUT CAR INSURANCE RATES BEGUN

Massachusetts motorists, while welcoming the announcement they will be allowed to cancel their compulsory insurance on a pro rata basis if rationing forces them to take their cars off the road, made demands today for rebates in insurance.

Charles J. Harrington, state insurance commissioner who described the policy cancellation plan, was asked to look into the possibility of lowering rates, due to the slower speeds and decreasing number of accidents.

In outlining the new plan, Harrington explained that car owners who cancel their policy at the end of 90 days will get a 75 per cent rebate, whereas formerly they received but 60 per cent, and those who cancel policies at the end of 180 days will get a 50 per cent rebate rather than the usual 30 per cent.

The Harrington announcement came almost simultaneously with a demand for a rebate to all motorists who have paid compulsory insurance premiums for 1942, made by Kenneth I. Taylor, legislative agent of the Massachusetts Federation of Labor.

"War restrictions on autos, tires and gasoline, will result in a decrease in accidents which, in turn, will lessen the liability assumed by insurance companies," Taylor said. He pointed out the money saved should go to the car owners rather than to the insurance companies.

F. D. Lunches With War Aides

WASHINGTON, March 25 (INS)—President Roosevelt summoned his top Naval and Army leaders to the White House today for what Presidential Secretary Stephen T. Early said would be an "overall discussion" of the war program.

Those conferring with the President were Secretary of War Stimson, Secretary of Navy Knox, Adm. Ernest J. King, commander-in-chief of the fleet and chief of naval operations; Gen. George C. Marshall, Army chief of staff; Lieut.-Gen. H. H. Arnold head of the Air Corps, and Harry L. Hopkins, lend-lease supervisor.

It was presumed that the discussion would deal with both grand strategy and questions of supply.

Blackout Tonight For Lower Manhattan

NEW YORK, March 25 (INS)—The lower tip of Manhattan, often described as the ideal target for Nazi bombers because it houses the entire Wall Street financial district, will be given its first test blackout tonight.

Lights will be doused for 20 minutes beginning at 9 p. m. The test will cover an area of five square miles and include Greenwich Village.

Japs Say Islands Off India Bombed

LONDON, March 25 (AP)—Reuter's heard the Rome radio broadcasting a Tokyo dispatch today claiming that "the Andaman Islands in the Bay of Bengal were bombed violently this morning."

Mussolini Uses New Battleship

LONDON, March 25 (AP)—Prime Minister Winston Churchill disclosed today that the Italian naval force which set out to attack a British Mediterranean convoy on its way to Malta Sunday comprised "one of the most modern and powerful battleships afloat," six cruisers and a flotilla of destroyers.

The British force consisted of five light cruisers and destroyers, according to a message of congratulation sent by Churchill to Rear Admiral P. L. Vian, commander of the British force.

The admiralty's preliminary report on the action yesterday said that "one Italian battleship was seen to be hit by at least one torpedo," and denied Italian claims of extensive damage to British warships. It said only one merchant ship was sunk.

The Rome radio said today that Italy's new 35,000-ton battleship Littorio took part in the sea battle, admitted a medium-caliber shell grazed one of her turrets, but denied that she or any other Italian warship had been "hit."

Glamour Out, Navy Tells Machine Shop Women

ALAMEDA, Cal., March 25 (AP)—Now the Navy is dictating women's styles. The dictating is being done by Lieut. Commander R. R. Darron, to women employed in machine shops connected with the Alameda Naval Air Station.

"We're not running a fashion show," the style dictator said. "Glamour does not mix with safety and safety must set the style for women working in our airplane assembly and repair shops."

He eliminated glamour all the way from the heels of women's shoes to their hair-dos.

Women must wear pants.

Peek-a-boo style blouses and sweaters found no favor.

Shoes must be low-heeled oxfords with solid, thick soles. Open toes are forbidden.

Turbans are mandatory. Hair, which might get caught in whirling machines, must be tucked into the turban.

All jewelry is taboo. Fingernail polish of any hue is permissible, but it must be overlaid on nails that have been trimmed brutally short, like a workman's.

"Women," the commander commented, "can look pretty in the home."

One Man's Opinion

By WALTER KIERNAN

International News Service Staff Writer

We are dreaming up a new program which we will call "This is awful!" and offer when "This is war!" isn't on the air.

Have you heard "This is war!"? Have you any reason to disagree with Sherman?

Our program will be hysteria set to music. It will pack a "message" in every shriek and a Mickey Finn in every denunciation.

It will scold and berate and waggle its forefinger and chase the kids under the bed and the adults into the clothes closets.

It will scream at them that "This is a democracy—see!" and it will beat their brains out with phoney dramatics.

It will growl and snarl at them and then it will push the flag into their faces and sign off with "This program is offered in the spirit of a unified people."

That will be the payoff. That will be the supreme sacrilege.

Thought for the day: We've grown up, Uncle Sam.

Horace Wade's New Racing Story

HORACE WADE, writer of race track stories, horse owner, public speaker and announcer, has come to bat with the most interesting and thrilling story of the turf this writer has ever read. The name of the story is "Blood Battles Through."

It is a story of a great race horse, of a famous Kentucky colonel, of a crack jockey who fell into the clutches of crooked gamblers and of all the romance, color and sparkle that goes with the sport of kings.

By special arrangements with Horace Wade, "Blood Battles Through" will be published in the Sunday Advertiser and Boston Evening American before it appears in a Hollywood movie. The first installment will appear in the Sunday Advertiser.

Horace Wade Johnny Bullitt

Horace Wade is the announcer at Narragansett Park and he will be back calling the races at the Rhode Island track on April 11 when the thoroughbreds return to competition in New England.

Wade is associated with the publicity department of Suffolk Downs. Last season he wrote a series of articles on racing for the Green Race Special of the Boston Evening American under the heading "Through the Binoculars."

Wade wrote his first novel, "In the Shadow of the Great Pend," at the age of 11. He became very prominent as a "boy prodigy." He addressed 10,000 persons from the public rostrum, and he was signed as a special syndicate feature writer for the Hearst newspapers when only 11 years old.

Interviewed Leaders

As a newspaper writer, Horace interviewed more than 100 celebrities. The list included four United States Presidents, David Lloyd George, Prince of Wales and Grand Vizier of Persia.

It was natural that a young man with so much natural writing talent should receive offers from Hollywood. Wade accepted an offer to write original scripts for the movies, and out of them came a best seller novel, "Gone Hollywood," followed by another novel, "Great Scott." This latter book was dramatized for the New York stage.

Always looking for adventure, Wade became associated with racing eight years ago. He became intrigued by the sport and has remained with it since, acting as publicity director, race track owner and race track manager. At the age of 24 Horace was directing the affairs of Alamo Downs San Antonio track.

In the winter months, Wade is associated with the publicity staffs of Tropical Park and the Fair Grounds at New Orleans.

The story "Blood Battles Through", has been written around modern racing conditions. Apart for his throbbing plot, the story contains a wealth of valuable racing information. It should be the racing story of the year.

Begin reading it in the Sunday Advertiser and then follow the subsequent chapters in the Boston Evening American.

Donald Brunelle

Dave Wilson sends word from Florida that Donald Brunelle of Pawtucket, R. I. is one of the most improved riders at Tropical Park. He is under contract to O. L. Foster who developed C. E. Allen, Jackie Westrope, Harry Krovitz and other top riders.

Young riders should be given every possible encouragement as they are the real backbone of racing. During the Florida racing season, the apprentice jockeys have shown much more consistency than the veteran riders. This is also true at New England tracks.

The old riders also refuse to take the risks assumed by the younger jockeys. The veteran riders will often take back rather than trying to get through a tight spot. Like the old-timers in baseball and boxing, they adopt at times a safety first attitude. The apprentice riders, on the other hand, always ride hard, take chances and keep booting and kicking in an effort to get their horse across the finish line in front.

Prendible-Duda

George Freeman of the Irish-American A. A. says he will have a heavyweight class in his tournament at the Arena on next Monday night and that Henry Duda of Camp Devens and Jimmy "Chuck" Prendible of Charlestown will be among the contestants.

Dudas and Prendible furnished the highlight of the recent New England A. A. U. boxing champions when they traded blows in reckless style for three rounds. Duda's margin of victory was a small one, and there are many who believe Prendible has a chance to reverse the result on Monday night.

Johnny Bullitt of Harvard looked impressive as he won the title in the 135-pound class. Bullitt is an exceptionally good boxer and a fine ring general.

Henry Lamar, Harvard football and boxing coach who handles Bullitt, has done a good job in developing the young boxer's natural talent.

They have a new breed of men at Harvard. I cite Endicott Peabody, football player, and Johnny Bullitt, boxer, as examples. Harvard students have found out that a rich man's son can become as great an athlete as the son of a poor man provided he is willing to work and sweat.

Mack Won't Double-Cross His Veterans

PASADENA, Cal., March 25 (AP)—Much as he hates the salaries of holdout Jack Sharp, Connie Mack revealed today he will not cut the first baseman's figure in order to be fair to his other veterans.

"Bob Johnson, Frank Hayes, Jack Knott, Mike Kreevich and Siebert all were offered bonus contracts based on our Philadelphia attendance," Connie said. "Siebert was the only one not to agree."

The Athletics' manager said war conditions and the uncertainty of baseball's outlook made it impossible to offer larger salaries.

"The basic salary offered Siebert was $1000 less than he drew last year," Mack pointed out. "The others were forced to take bigger cuts. If I gave in to him, naturally the others would feel they were double-crossed."

AAU FIGHTS ARMY BLAST ON SOLDIER BAN

NEW ORLEANS, March 25 (AP)—Larry DiBenedetto, A. A. U. president, declared here today he resented a charge of "persecution" placed against the South Atlantic division of the A. A. U., by an Army officer for suspension of a soldier-athlete at Baltimore.

DiBenedetto ordered the records sent to him for study and an answer.

The charge was made yesterday by Maj. Richard O'Connell, morale chief of the Third Corps Area who said suspension by the A. A. U. of Marty Passaglia, San Francisco selectee, for competing with service buddies against a professional basketball team "smacks of Axis efforts by a fifth column and amounts to persecution."

PLAYED UNDER ORDERS

Maj. A. K. Punnell, special services officer at Aberdeen, Md., said Passaglia played in the questioned game under orders of a superior officer and that his barring from a Baltimore amateur tourney seemed "grossly unfair to the men in this camp as well as the service men in camps throughout the country."

Di Benedetto made public a telegram he sent to Carl F. Gail, president of the South Atlantic A. A. U. at Baltimore. It said in part:

"Of course I don't believe South Atlantic Ass'n officials guilty of this charge, but since Maj. O'Connell saw fit to make such statement placing the A. A. U. in bad light it is up to us to answer.

RESENTS CHARGES

"There is no more patriotic body of men in America than the men who make up the A. A. U., and I want you to airmail to me immediately your side of the issue so that I may answer Maj. O'Connell.

"As president of the A. A. U., and for all the fine Americans. Both men and women in the A. A. U., I resent Maj. O'Connell's charges."

Ferris Claims A. A. U. Liberal on Rules

The A. A. U. has been as liberal as possible in the interpretation of its rules, Secretary-Treasurer Dan Ferris said in New York. The rule makes liable for suspension any amateur athlete who competes with or against a professional.

"As long as a pro athlete competes with a service team, we have not suspended amateurs playing with or against him," said Ferris. He cited the Great Lakes Naval Training Station basketball team which, although having several pros on its squad, has played Big Ten schools.

"In the case of Passaglia, however, we understand he competed against pro teams and played with professional athletes. As long as he played with his service team, no action was taken, but the South Atlantic A. A. U. felt that he should be suspended when he agreed to play with an A. A. U. team in an A. A. U. tournament."

Providence Youth Stars in Court Win

HATTIESBURG, Miss., March 25 (AP)—The basketball team representing the 43d Division, which is made up principally of federalized National Guard troops from all New England States except Massachusetts, won the Camp Shelby championship last night by beating the 802d Tank Destroyer Battalion quintet, 34 to 31.

Jimmy Leo of Providence, R. I., starred for the winners by individually scoring 13 points.

BALTIMORE, March 25 (AP)—The Army stood firm in its resolve today to back up Pvt. Marty Passaglia, former Santa Clara University athlete who was barred from an amateur athletic union basketball tourney.

In a reprisal measure against the South Atlantic Ass'n AAU for suspending Passaglia, soldier-athletes of the Third Corps Area will not be permitted to compete in events sponsored by the association.

The A. A. U. turned its guns on Passaglia, wohse home is in San Francisco, because he participated with the Aberdeen Proving Ground quint in a game against a Cumberland, Md., professional team last month.

He was to play with a Y. M. H. A. team in a Baltimore amateur tournament but was barred. The Y. M. H. A. five promptly withdrew.

Soldiers were invited by the A. A. U. to box in its annual championship tournament. However, Maj. Richard O'Connell, chief morale officer of the Third Corps Area, said permission would not be granted unless the association withdrew its ruling against Passaglia.

"This whole thing smells into high heaven," Maj. O'Connell said. "If they don't want Passaglia, they can't have others to help swell their receipts for amateur boxing."

AAU in Row With M'Mitchell

CLEVELAND, March 25 (AP)—Local A. A. U. officials threatened today to institute suspension proceedings against Leslie MacMitchell if New York University's great mile runner fails to race here Friday night in the Knights of Columbus meet.

James L. Lee, secretary of the Northeastern Ohio A. A. U., said he had contacted Floyd Olds of Ypsilanti, Mich., chairman of A. A. U.'s national track and field committee, in an effort to force MacMitchell to appear here. Lee said Olds promised to telephone Lawrence DiBenedetto of New Orleans, president of the A. A. U.

Lee said that after MacMitchell contracted to run here against Gil Dodds of the Boston A. A. and other rivals, the New York Track Writers' Ass'n arranged a naval relief fund meet for tonight. Coach Emil Von Elling wired Cleveland officials he was withdrawing his star because MacMitchell would be unable to race in New York tonight and in Cleveland just 48 hours later.

M'Mitchell-Dodds Duel Tops Navy Fund Card

NEW YORK, March 25 (AP)—Headlined by Leslie MacMitchell and Gil Dodds, the mile twins, a hand-picked group of athletes will make an assault on six world records in the Navy relief track meet on the Bronx Coliseum's nine-lap oval tonight.

MacMitchell and Dodds, all-square after two torrid meetings, will go after the competitive record of 4:07.4 held jointly by MacMitchell, Glenn Cunningham and Chuck Fenske.

Dodds, the preacher's son who learned to run by correspondence from the great Lloyd Hahn, caught MacMitchell napping in the A. A. U championships and won in 4:08.7. MacMitchell turned the tables in the Knights of Columbus game, winning in 4:08. Frank Dixon, Brooklyn schoolboy miler, will be the third starter.

Other events on the abbreviated program are the 440, 880 and two mile runs and the mile and two-miler relays.

Greg Rice, unbeaten since way back when, will attempt to better his own two mile mark of 8:51.1. Jim Rafferty, George DeGeorge and Joe McCluskey, all of the New York A. C., complete the outstanding cast.

The quarter mile and the half mile standards both may be lowered. Tom Halpin set the record of 49.6 for the seldom-run quarter at Buffalo in 1941.

WAGNER, RYBA DO HILL DUTY AGAINST NATS

ORLANDO, Fla., March 25—In an attempt to atone for the 4-3 defeat handed them by the Dodgers, the Red Sox are sending Broadway Charlie Wagner and Mike Ryba against the Senators in today's game.

The Brooklyn loss wasn't too hard to take. The Sox fielding was sharp, the hitting not too bad and Joe Dobson who looked great all spring, came up with another nice performance.

The lone sour note was the disappointing stretch finish of Bill Butland, upon whom the Croninites are banking rather heavily this season. Bill allowed the Dodgers to steal the game in the 9th with a two-run rally.

Dobson left the game in the seventh after allowing the Bums but four hits, handing Butland a 3-2 lead. Butland worked nicely through the eighth, but in the last of the ninth he just didn't have it.

PESKY HOT

Reese opened with a single, Les Burge and Augie Galan walked after a Reiser single had sent Pee-wee home and then Johnny Rizzo hit deeply to right, scoring Reiser after a Lou Finney catch to give the Dodgers the victory and even the grapefruit series of the two clubs.

Mary Lewis, the young outfielder borrowed from Louisville, played left field for the Hose and looked fine. He hobbled home a run, looked classy at the plate in his other trips and contributed a fine running catch.

Johnny Pesky started two double plays and fielded smoothly. The Dodgers tried an He also contributed a double to the Sox offense in the fourth inning, scoring on another double by Lou Finney.

DODGER DOPESTERS — Brooklyn players were riled with Whitlow Wyatt, who is $20,000 a loud demand. They point out that several players on the club are in the $17,000 bracket and that Wyatt is more valuable than any of them. They know Wyatt is getting along in years (32) and will not have many more good seasons, and they say he's smart in getting it while he can . . . A good role in a World Series might bother some folks, but not Mickey Owen. The game little Dodger catcher is going along his peppery way just as if Casey's errant pitch had never broken away from him . . . Dodger fans will be rooting for him more t[illegible] . . .

"There's the luckiest guy alive," said a correspondent, singling out utility infielder Lew Riggs. Lew was Billy Werber's understudy in 1939 and 1940 when the Reds won N. L. flags, was traded to Brooklyn just in time to cash in on the '41 pennant. And still wasn't a regular . . . "Don't you believe it," remarked one of Brooklyn's stalwarts. "He batted .305 and had 36 RBI, most of them in pinch hitting roles. He pushed many a run over for us when it was needed. We wouldn't have won the flag without him." . . . Riggs will continue to play a utility role this season, this time to Arkie Vaughan, power hitter obtained from Pittsburgh . . .

Red Sox Better Than in 1941; Dobson Ace of Pitching Staff

By HERB FINNEGAN

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., March 25—Every day, in every way, it is becoming more apparent that the Red Sox this year will field a team more well-rounded, more spirited than the one that finished 17 games behind the Yankees in '41.

For one thing, there are so many capable youngsters on the roster that few of the veterans can afford to loaf. For another, the club will have some pitching and a better infield, defensively at least.

Joe Dobson, now 25 and with one good year behind him, looks ready to set the pace for a mound corps which includes established veterans like Charlie Wagner and Dick Newsome and promising newcomers like Yank Terry, Oscar Judd, Ken Chase and the surprising Bill Butland and Norman Brown.

The pitching has been of high caliber all spring. It should remain that way during the season.

Behind the bat Bill Conroy, draftee from Oakland, showed in his five game stretch last week that he is a most capable fielder and a long, dangerous hitter.

Last year Pytlak and Peacock shared the catching duties between them. This year Conroy will make both holdovers hustle to keep the No. 1 spot away from him.

EVEN DOERR'S FASTER

The biggest improvement in the club, we believe, will come in the defensive play of the infield. Ulysses Lupien is an aggressive base-stealing ball player who has been making plays no other first baseman in the Grapefruit League has shown. He's been spanking the ball, too.

He may not oust Jimmie Foxx from the post but if he doesn't he certainly will make a better first baseman of Foxx than Foxx has been the past two seasons.

At second base Doerr is lighter, faster than he was in '41. In addition kids like Lupien, Pellagrini and Pesky, anxious to make good, have been talking it up so much that even the quiet Doerr has caught the habit.

With Pesky or Pellagrini at short, Bobby will be pivoting on more double plays this year than for four years before. Both kids are like lightning and will be knocking down balls that heretofore have been sliding through the infield for base hits.

TED'S SURE OF GOOD YEAR

That is another reason why the pitching has been of such high caliber down here. Pesky came up with three ground balls and one line drive against the Cards one day which the 1940 or 1941 Cronin would have been forced to make at. Joe can't get that important "jump" on a ball like he used to. He'll be satisfied to play a utility role, he announced recently, which will give the club an excellent pinch hitter.

Tabor should be the best third baseman in the league. Even though he was on the bench for three weeks with an injured Achilles tendon, he showed on his return that the rest did him little harm even at the plate. He has adopted a wider stance this spring, much on the style of Joe DiMaggio, and it suits him perfectly. He should be one of the league's top sluggers.

Ted Williams will have a good year. He's running bases as he did toward the close of last season when he was looking for the Most Valuable Player' award. He's sliding with never a thought of the ankle he injured last spring. The fact that he figures the fans may be riding him will spur him to greater efforts than ever before.

JOE DOBSON

And if there is one fellow on the club who will be an improved player it is Dom DiMaggio. His work has been remarkable down here, both fielding and hitting. He has sparked practically every scoring drive the Sox have made, particularly the ninth-inning 7-5 victory over the Reds at Tampa and the 2-1 12-inning victory over the Cards at St. Pete.

His fielding has been a thing of beauty, even on ground balls. He fields his outfield position like a shortstop, and he has saved his pitchers many a run by the way he reduces triples to singles.

Last year, hampered by injuries and the fact he had to play day in and day out despite his wounds, his batting fell off. That hurt his pride, and he is determined to get above the .300 mark this year and stay there.

If he is hurt this year, Paul Campbell or Johnny Welaj will be able to step in and give him a day's rest. They may not hit, but both are extremely fast and clever defensively.

Lynn Golfer Shuns Praise After 66 Round

PINEHURST, N. C., March 25 (AP)—Les Kennedy, 24, unemployed son of a Lynn, Mass., policeman, was the talk of this resort town today as a result of his par-wrecking 66 in the North and South open golf championship.

The tow-headed youngster, with a sunburned face sticking out of his topless eyeshade cap, was the man nobody knew for most of yesterday, but when the day was dying and the pressure was on, the kid who had never won a tournament or come close blasted Champion Sammy Snead and ex-Champion Ben Hogan out of the lead.

He never batted an eye as he three-putted the 16th green. He just moved over to No. 17 and batted out a birdie deuce. He showed no trace of emotion as he missed the 18th green, and was impassive when his long putt for a par four rolled wide on the cup by two inches.

He didn't play the "19th hole." When the boys started looking for him, no one knew where he was stopping, and he did not hang around the club to pick up any house plaudits.

Deferred by the draft because of sinus trouble, Kennedy has won only $550 in the full winter circuit. He was 10th in the Bing Crosby meet on the West Coast and tied for fifth in the Beaumont, Tex., open.

HOLMES RATED BEST ROOKIE BY STENGEL

By BILL GRIMES

SANFORD, Fla., March 25—"Until such time as I'm satisfied that the rookies require more seasoning and turn to my regular team," admitted Manager Casey Stengel, "there isn't much chance of the Braves being consistent winners in the Grapefruit League.

"We brought a number of youngsters here to see what they had to offer in the way of baseball talent," continued Ole Case. "It would be just as sensible to toss the money out of the window as to take kids to training camps and not try them out. You can't develop them on the bench or by playing them solely in intra-squad games.

"When we came to camp, every position was open. At that time, Eddie Miller was a holdout and Johnny Cooney was at his home over in Sarasota waiting for his wife to recover from a major operation.

"Naturally, I figured Miller as my shortstop and Cooney, who has led the club in hitting for two years, was entitled to the call over the other center fielders.

HITS LIKE OLD MASTERS

"Before Cooney reported, Tommy Holmes clicked so brilliantly that I have a problem on my hands. I've the best looking rookie (Holmes) that has come up to the Braves since I've had the club and the club's leading batter for 1940 and 1941, battling for one position.

"From what he has shown me, Holmes can't miss. He's what I'd call a scientific hitter. A throw back from the old masters, Willie Keeler, Ty Cobb and our own Paul Waner. He hits to all fields and has more power than my scouting reports indicated.

"Right now, it looks like Paul Waner and Frank Demaree will divide the right field assignment and Chet Ross will be in left.

"I haven't attempted to press Ross. It would be foolhardy in this sandy soil to ask him to bear down chasing fly balls. He might hit a soft spot and ruin himself, and he's far too valuable an asset to gamble with.

ROBERGE IMPROVED

"I have also been experimenting with my infield. I want to see more of Heltzel, who is one of the best infielders I've ever seen. If he learns to hit, and he should, for he doesn't 'pull,' he could get himself a regular job. Roberge looks better at the plate than he did a year ago and, of course, there's nothing to worry about concerning his fielding.

"Sisti and Fernandez are battling for the third base berth and I wouldn't be surprised if Dudra inserted himself into that picture by virtue of his hitting ability.

"Fernandez has convinced me that he's a major leaguer offensively, so we've got to find a spot for him.

"In about another week, I'll start to play what I believe to be my first team and expect to come up with more verdicts. My pitchers are in great shape and will win plenty of Grapefruit League contests if their mates are able to get them a few runs."

O. K. Night Ball On West Coast

LOS ANGELES, March 25 (AP)—President W. C. Tuttle of the Pacific Coast Baseball League reported today the Army formally had approved night baseball this season, provided certain regulations were enforced.

Tuttle said a letter from Lieut. Gen. John L. Dewitt, of the Fourth Army, specified that crowds be no larger than the number estimated in the report. An average that was less than the 5000 limit.

The general also demanded that park lighting systems be easily extinguishable.

Boston Evening American Photos

NICE STOP for Frankie Brimsek. Bill Mosienko, in the helmet, with his back to the right of the cage, tries to sneak one by Brimmy but Mr. Zee was equal to the task. Jake Shewchuk (No. 21) holds Red Hamill out of the play as Red tries to sneak through, for the rebound.

BEST FOOT forward and this time it happened to be Sam Lo Presti's left as Sammy cooly kicked away a backhand effort by Bruins' Herbie Cain. Goalie Lo Presti was just unbeatable last night and came up with his first Stanley Cup shutout, to the dismay of the Boston fans, who had figured the B's just about "in."

BLACKHAWKS SQUARE UP PLAYOFF SERIES AS WEARY BRUINS CRUMBLE AT GARDEN, 4-0

There are two conflicting schools of thought from the rival war clubs today as the Bruins and Blackhawks rested their weary limbs in anticipation of tomorrow night's "croo-shal" battle at the Boston Garden.

Paul Thompson, dapper manager of the Hawks, represents one side of the issue and equally dapper Mr. Clapper takes just the opposite view.

Contacted down at the Manger this morning, Manager Paul was all grins, and gleefully chirped:

"So the Boston fans washed us up after losing that one in Chicago, but what have they got to say after that 4 to 0 licking my lads handed the Bruins at the Garden last night?

LO PRESTI TURNS TIDE

"That's all we needed. We have played good and bad in streaks all season and now we're off on another victory jaunt."

And there you have one side of the picture.

Moving uptown to the Hotel Brunswick, Coach Dit Clapper wasn't quite as chipper but he was far from downcast.

"The Bruins played the worst game I have seen them put on, since my return last month," said Dit. "Oddly enough, at the five-minute mark when we peppered Lo Presti from every angle and he made six stops in less than a minute, I felt that maybe this wasn't our night and my intuition proved right.

"We just couldn't do anything right and no matter what Chicago did it turned out great. But the boys just got a bad one out of their systems and we'll be back in there pitching tomorrow night. I still like the Bruins to win this series," concluded Aubrey.

There's two conflicted opinions—take your choice!

NEW LINE CLICKS

There was no question but that the Hawks were the better team last night—yet, the odd part of the win was that the Hawks' strength was in the line that was makeshift and supposedly the weak spot in the invaders' armor.

With Earl Seibert lost to the club, Thompson had to yank Bill Thoms back on defense and break up his unit of Kaleta-Thoms-Bill Carse. Thompson shifted Kaleta, who has been at left wing all year to right wing and moved Georgie Allen into left wing on that line and Bill Carse at center.

This line, playing together for the first time and without even a practice session behind them, scored three of the four goals, each man counted once.

It was Bill Mosienko who counted first, early in the second period on a passout from Red Hamill. Then the Kaleta-Allen-Bill Carse line took over.

Kaleta tilled one home less than seven minutes after Mosienko scored, and 11 seconds later Bill Carse took an assist from Kaleta and came in all alone to beat Brimsek easily.

CAIN IN TOUGH LUCK

Allen wound up the scoring in the third period when he wound up a three men jump with a golf shot that carried into the corner with inches to spare.

That's the scoring story, yet this 4 to 0 rout might have easily been a tight lipped affair. In the second period with the Hawks ahead 1 to 0, Cain got the jump and was in on Lo Presti all alone. Herbie waited until Sammy dived for the puck and then tried to hit the strings but couldn't lift the plug and Lo Presti made the save. One minute later, the Hawks had two more goals, sewing up the affair.

• • •

Tomorrow night, either the Bruins or the Hawks dress for the last time this season. The winner will meet either Detroit or Les Canadiens who also play their "rubber" game in Detroit tonight . . . the victors in each of these series will meet in either Boston or Chicago Sunday night.

If the Bruins win they are not going to adopt the same strategy they used against Chicago and open away from home. If they did it would mean a Tuesday night game here. Since the big blackout is scheduled for that evening, the Ross plans call for them to be away—if—

• • •

Season ticket holders can pick up their tickets until nine o'clock tonight and the public sale starts tomorrow morning at nine . . . Art Ross sat behind Clapper during the first period and then saw the rest of the game from an upper corner of the stadium . . . Goalie Sam Lo Presti had one of his good nights and when Sammy is "hot" there's no beating him.

The Cowley-Conacher-Wiseman line really looked bad last night. Wiseman, bothered with a charley horse, just wasn't himself and Bill Cowley, although he felt well, just couldn't get going and as a result it affected Conacher's play.

• • •

Football and hockey may not mix but a statement made by Harvard's Dick Harlow certainly carried weight last night. Harlow said during the grid season that he didn't care what the odds were on any team, if the favorite had the wrong mental attitude, and was too cocky, he would always pick the underdog . . . The Bruins were 2 to 1 favorites last night and most of them thought they were in for a soft night—the underdog wound up the winner.

Dit Clapper was strictly on his own last night, even as far as the pre-game fight talk was concerned, for Art Ross didn't show up in the dressing room before the fray . . . Clare Martin was again the 15th man and in keeping with his tailend position, he was the last Bruin to show in the dressing room.

• • •

The entire Madison Square Garden gang, including the linesmen, timers and goal judges made up the officials group . . . Alex Kaleta and Joe Cooper kept nagging the Bruins all during the second canto trying to get the Rossmen to lose their tempers . . . they came very near succeeding.

Those customers who sit around the boards are evidently as tough in many cases as the hockey players. One cash customer was hit by a flying puck and didn't even call a time out . . . Mush March was a pest all night as far as Rex Conacher was concerned . . . Since Conacher has been so "hot" Mush was under orders to keep Rollin Roy in check and he did just that.

Manager Paul Thompson was ordered only 14 men as he was not able to get a replacement for Earl Seibert who was left at home on the advice of doctors . . . Bill Thoms moved back to Seibert's defense post and Bill Carse moved into his spot at center between Alex Kaleta and Georgie Allen.

3 Shutouts Tie 1936 Hockey Mark

By the Associated Press

Three shutouts were scored in as many National Hockey League playoff games last night—six years to the very night after a similar perfect mark was put on the record book in 1936.

New York's revived Rangers, with Goalie Jim Henry in the nets, blanked the Toronto Maple Leafs, 3 to 0, for the youngster's second major league whitewash; Montreal shut out Detroit, 5 to 0, with Paul Bibeault guarding the gate; and rotund Sammy Lo Presti of the Chicago Hawks stopped the Bruins, 4 to 0.

The contests left the Rangers still trailing the Leafs, two games to one, in the best-of-seven semi-final, while both the two best-of-three quarterfinals now are even and will be decided Thursday night.

New York invades Toronto Saturday night for the fourth meeting. Detroit and Montreal hurry back to the motor city for Thursday night, while the Hawks and Bruins remain in Boston.

On March 24, 1936, the Red Wings and Montreal Maroons played 116 minutes and 30 seconds before the Wings triumphed, 1 to 0, for one of the shutouts. Detroit ultimately won the Stanley Cup.

Other shutouts that night were scored by Boston, 3 to 0, over Toronto with Tiny Thompson in the cage, and by the New York Americans, now Brooklyn Americans, over Chicago by the same score with Roy Worters doing the net-minding.

True North Champ Of Baby Turf Stars

MIAMI, March 25 (AP)—One of the most interesting phases of winter racing is the annual uncovering of the new crop of 2-year-olds, the "babies" from which may spring a future turf champion. Among others developed last season were Alsab and Requested although they did not shops up as 1942 Derby choices at the time.

Albatross was king of the Florida youngsters and now is running—and not too well—for $3500.

This season, in the excitement caused by all the older, big name horses, the juveniles have slipped by comparatively unnoticed. Now with the Florida campaign nearing its end a good line is available on the new material.

True North, owned and bred by Richard Howe, looks like the runt-est rascal of the current baby brigade. The well named son of Only One-North Riding won each of his two starts, including a division of the Hialeah juvenile stakes, with the consistent All Good the runner-up both times.

TRUE NORTH 9-1 RUNNER

On each outing the chestnut colt impressed with his manner of winning, showing both high speed, courage and stamina. True North's earnings in the two races were $6600.

Several of the newcomers already have established themselves as bargain buys. Wise Bob, as a yearling, was sold to E. K. Bryson for $600. He won his second start Feb. 6 and was claimed out of that race for $3000 by Mrs. Louise Lazare.

For his new owner the Wise Counselor colt won a division of the Tanner Stakes at Hialeah; finished second to Kopia in the second half of the Hialeah Juvenile, and followed with a triumph at Tropical Park in the Orange Blossom Stakes three victories in six starts and earnings of $5805.

Ogden Phipps bought Big Talk at Saratoga for $2000. The Hadal colt has already earned $100 in excess of his purchase price, winning two of his five starts, including a victory over Kopia in an allowance affair.

W. G. Douglass, an old-time trainer of standardbreds but now also recognized as a conditioner of thoroughbred younsters, has J. H. Louchheim's Kopia.

GELDING EARNS $8160

Douglass acquired the Okapi gelding as a yearling in Lexington. His charge has earned $8160 with three victories in six attempts, the last was a $3500 plater.

All Good's eight races were all good always in the money, including two triumphs. Mrs. Hugh Good took him as a yearling for $1500 and recently sold the youngster to T. D. Buhlat for an unrevealed price. He has earned $3090.

Daily double bettors at Oaklawn yesterday got $1467 30 for their $2 if they coupled Axelson in the first race with Bid On in the second. Axelson paid $39.40 and the price on Bid On was $21.50.

Mrs. C. S. Bromley's In Question won the mile and a sixteenth Hallandale Purse by four lengths yesterday at Tropical Park under a masterful ride by Conn McCreary. Ruth Sidell's Displayer was second and B. A. Dario's Master Key third.

In Question did the distance in 1:44 and was the 7-to-10 favorite.

Lynn Horseman's Body on Way Home

PASADENA, Cal., March 25 (INS)—The body of William A. Quiney, 78, vice president and general manager of the Del Mar Turf Club will be sent to Lynn, Mass., funeral following rosary services being held in Pasadena, survivors relatives announced today.

Quigley died at Huntington Memorial Hospital yesterday after a week's illness. He started his race track career as a steward at Santa Anita and later moved to the Del Mar organization as a vice-president.

Minor Ice Loop Hits Deadlock In Semi-Finals

By the Associated Press

Finalists in the American Hockey League playoffs will be determined Thursday night at Indianapolis and at Hershey.

Both semi-final competitions were deadlocked last night with the Caps, winners of the Western Divisional title, defeating Springfield on the Indians' own rink 4 to 3, and Hershey downing Cleveland on Pennsylvania ice, 4 to 1.

Gus Geisebrecht counted the goal that gave Indianapolis its triumph with less than two minutes of playing time remaining.

Cardinals Must Refund $25,000 On Padgett Deal

ST. LOUIS, Mo., March 25 (AP)—In default of a decision by Baseball Commissioner Kenesaw Mountain Landis, the St. Louis Cardinals must refund $25,000 to the Brooklyn Dodgers for Don Padgett, catcher, the Dodgers announced today.

Padgett left the Daytona Beach, Fla., training camp of the Dodgers today, after informing club officials that his Bostic, N. C., draft board had called him for induction April 1.

GANSETT HEAD LAUDS PLANS OF TRACKS

PAWTUCKET, R. I., March 25—Judge James E. Dooley, president, and Charles A. Connors, chairman of the board at Narragansett, have returned from Chicago where they attended the congress of the state racing commissioners.

Dooley believes the most constructive result of the Chicago conference was the formation of the association of racetrack managements.

The group has been formed to determine what part the racing associations should play in the national defense program and what contributions the tracks can guarantee to America's war effort.

"Everyone in racing desires to do his utmost for our country," he said today. "It is vital that track owners and managements, who control the profits of racing, arrive at a mutually agreeable and feasible plan for contributing to the country's war effort."

SWAN—Northwestern's star diver, Howie Jaynes, bids for low and high board titles at the N. C. A. A. meet Friday and Saturday in Harvard pool. His chief rivals are Yale's Jim Cook, Sammy Lee and Hank Chapman

Pics to Rely on Vets In Tonight's Game

The Boston Olympics renew their ice feud with their old nemesis, the Washington Eagles tonight at the Garden in another playoff game of the United States Amateur Hockey championship.

Washington, winner of three games in this series play, one a 4-0 shutout of the Olympics last week in the capital, has an excellent chance of advancing further with another win tonight.

For this reason Coach Hago Harrington and his squad would like nothing better than to knock the Eagles right out of the picture.

In an attempt to turn back Redvers Mackenzie's puck chasers, Harrington will use every available veteran. His first line will be that of Gerry Desrosiers, Danny Sullivan and Don Veigel. The second wave includes Ray Chaisson, Al Dumond and Don Mellor. And for his third tric Harrington will work Johnny Fitzgerald, Junie Allen and Gerry Bauer.

Mainly because Al Baranowski has more than a score to settle with the Eagles, Harrington has decided to give the big Walpole defenseman another chance at the blue line. In one of the recent Washington games the Baran was a victim of a broken cheek bone.

The last time Washington came to the Hub it was defeated, 4-2, with its ace, Paul Courteau, sitting on the sidelines. Courteau refused to don a uniform for some unknown reason, and during the game was tossed off the Washington bench by police for abusing Linesman Smoky Kelleher.

CALIFORNIAN SWIMMERS WORK OUT IN HARVARD POOL

Headed by a jaunty little Korean springboard artist named Sammy Lee, who calls Occidental at Los Angeles alma mater, four Californians, the first contingent of swimmers to arrive for the N. C. A. A. meet at Harvard this week-end, breezed into Cambridge yesterday.

Because his people, who have long been subjugated by the Japs, are often mistaken for them on the West Coast, Sammy was still wearing an identification button when he arrived.

"I've got my number in the draft," said 21-year-old Sammy, "and I'm proud of it."

Third in the nationals last year, behind Earl Clark of Ohio State and Jim Cook of Yale, Lee is considered the chief threat to Cook's bid for the title.

Twenty minutes after arriving the lads from the ballyhooed "land of eternal sunshine" were in the Harvard pool. After a long workout they visited the principal Harvard buildings and watched baseball and football practice in Briggs Cage.

KIDS RAISE THE FARE

The California entourage is one of the most colorful ever to show its wares locally. Lee's teammate, Hank Chapman, is so much like the film star that he is joshed by his mates as "the Tyrone Power of the springboard." Chapman was fourth in the nationals two years ago.

The story of how Harry Perry, soph diver from U. S. C., got to Cambridge, is worthy of consideration as one of the best human interest tales of the season. Since his college could not allow him any funds for the trip, Harry was doomed to remain behind. But the boys and girls at Beverley Hills High School, to whom Harry was something of an idol, raised enough money from a swimming carnival to send Harry across the continent. Modest, handsome Harry, who is just a youngster of 20, is rated "tops" as a diver by Lee.

Besides Cook, the Californians will have to contend with Howie Jaynes, of Northwestern, Frank Dempsey of Ohio State—Big Ten low-board titlist, Harvard's Shaw McCutcheon, undefeated Billy King of Tennessee, and Charlie Batterman of Ohio State.

COLLEGIATE BASEBALL SLATE OUT

NEW YORK, March 25 (AP)—The Eastern Intercollegiate Baseball League today announced a full 42-game schedule for the 1942 season despite acdemic "speedups" and the early commencement dates planned by five of the seven colleges.

Six double-headers, four of them involving Dartmouth, have been listed to facilitate telescoping the schedule.

The season will open April 3 and, except for three June games involving Yale, Harvard and Princeton, will be completed by the end of May.

The schedule:

April 3, Harvard at Pennsylvania; 4, Harvard at Pennsylvania; 11, Cornell at Yale; 13, Cornell at Columbia; 15, Yale at Pennsylvania; 18, Dartmouth at Pennsylvania, Harvard at Princeton, Yale at Columbia; 20, Harvard at Columbia; 22, Columbia at Princeton; 25, Princeton at Cornell; Dartmouth at Columbia (2), Pennsylvania at Yale; 30, Princeton at Dartmouth (2).

May 2, Yale at Cornell, Pennsylvania at Columbia (2); 5, Columbia at Yale; 6, Pennsylvania at Cornell; 8, Cornell at Princeton; 9, Cornell at Pennsylvania, Columbia at Harvard, Dartmouth at Yale (2); 13, Princeton at Columbia, Pennsylvania at Dartmouth; 16, Princeton at Pennsylvania (2), Cornell at Harvard (2); 20, Harvard at Dartmouth (2); 23, Princeton at Harvard; 25, Dartmouth at Cornell; 27, Cornell at Dartmouth; 30, Columbia at Cornell, Harvard at Yale.

Plan Title Go For Navy Fund

NEW YORK, March 25 (AP)—Fight Promoter Mike Jacobs said today the Navy Relief Society has asked him to put on a benefit boxing program in Washington's Griffith Stadium in May and that he had suggested a championship welterweight bout between titlist "Red" Cochrane of Elizabeth, N. J., and Ray Robinson of New York.

Jacobs was in Washington earlier in the day where he conferred with George A. Garrett of the society.

Supporting bouts suggested are Tommy Tucker and Johnny Colan and Ernie Vigh of Newburgh, N. Y., and George Abrams of Washington, Cal Cagni of Cresskill, N. J., and Norman Rubio of Albany, N. Y., may be paired in a six rounder.

Angel Favored Over El Diablo In Close Match

The Angel will be favored to retain his heavyweight wrestling championship tonight at the Arena when he tackles El Diablo, mystery contender, in the feature of Promoter Paul Bowser's weekly carnival.

However, it's about the evenest title bout Bowser has staged in months, and The Angel's crown is shaking precariously. Even if he wins it he himself probably will admit it to be one of the hardest matches of his entire career. Certainly it will be one of the roughest.

Any bout in which El Diablo competes is bound to be rough and he will make no concessions to The Angel, even if he is champion of the world. He has announced that he will tear into the man with the big head when the gong sounds and he is hopeful of having him on the flat of his back before all the late comers are seated.

In the semi-final, Marvin Westenberg, former Shadow and ex-champion of the world, will take on "Sliding Bill" Hansen, the Salt Lake City marvel. Westenberg is the only other unknown in history to hold the title when a mystery man. He won it when he wore the black mask and was The Shadow.

Preliminaries will be Andy Meixner of New York vs. Leo Numa of Seattle and George Linehan of Wayland vs. Dr. John "Dropkick" Murphy of Malden. Meixner replaces Chief Osley Saunooke who left hurriedly yesterday when he learned his ill father had taken a turn for the worse.

Hill Billies Play for Hoop Title

NEW YORK, March 25 (AP)—Two teams from the Blue Ridge Mountain area bring the basketball version of the Hatfield and McCoy feuding to Madison Square Garden tonight with the championship of the national invitational tourney as the prize.

Western Kentucky, featuring lanky Oran McKinney, will be after its 16th consecutive victory, at the expense of West Virginia, which offers Rudy Baric and Dick Kesling as its stars.

The tourney has been one of upsets all the way with Western Kentucky being seeded seventh and West Virginia eighth when the eight-team meet got under way on March 17.

In their first appearance the Kentucky Hilltoppers rolled over City College of New York, 49 to 46, and Monday night stopped Creighton of the Missouri Valley Conference, 49 to 36. The mountaineers, lacking only in capable reserves, eliminated the defending Long Island University five in round one, 59 to 49, and steamrollered Toledo, 51 to 39, in the semi-finals.

ENGLE NAMED GRID COACH AT BROWN

PROVIDENCE, R. I., March 25 (AP)—Charles A. Engle, Western Maryland graduate, was named Brown varsity line coach today. He will arrive here Friday and take up duties in the spring drill.

Engle played three years of varsity football at Western Maryland and end under Dick Harlow. After being graduated in 1930, he became football and basketball coach at Waynesboro, Pa. High School. He is on leave of absence from that post now while working for a master's degree at Western Maryland. During his residence at Western Maryland this year he has been an assistant football coach and varsity basketball coach.

Gorsica Takes Landis' Advice Signs on Line

BECKLEY, W. Va., March 25 (AP)—Bowing to a decision of Judge Kenesaw M. Landis, holdout Johnny Gorsica disclosed today that he was ready to accept the latest offer of the Detroit Tigers and would leave tomorrow for training camp at Lakeland, Fla.

The big right-handed pitcher fired three contracts back and then took his case to Judge Landis, who replied that "on the pitching record, I am unable to say that this is an unfair offer."

Gorsica wired General Manager Jack Zeller of the Tigers at Lakeland. Zeller told Gorsica to come along but to see him before reporting for work, and made no mention of the contract.

The first contract called for a reduction in salary and Johnny balked. The next offer called for a $100 bonus if he pitched 150 innings and the Beckley boy didn't like that. The third offer eliminated the mention of 150 innings but specified Johnny would be used as a bull pen pitcher.

Gorsica's pitching record in 1940, when the Tigers met the Cincinnati Reds in the World Series, was seven won and seven lost. Last year he won nin and lost 11 games.

LOUIS, SIMON END TRAINING FOR 15-ROUND TITLE BOUT

NEW YORK, March 25 (INS)—Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis and Challenger Abe Simon will get their final heavy training licks today for their 15-round title battle at Madison Square Garden Friday night before a sellout crowd.

With the Army emergency fund beneficiary of Louis' second defense without pay, estimations of the gate varied, but the fund is certain to be swelled by a sizeable chunk of cash. Louis gave his $47,000 purse to the Navy Relief Society when he knocked out Buddy Baer and the society's total profits aggregated $89,000.

The challenger boxed four rounds against sparring partners at his Summit, N. J., camp yesterday in a workout witnessed by his parents and other spectators, while Louis went the same distance against his helpers at Ft. Dix, N. J., before 2500 fellow-soldiers.

Simon and Louis both have reached a keen-edged peak and will breeze through the grind today, then limber up tomorrow as their parting preparations before coming into New York for the noon weigh-in on Friday.

Louis expects to scale 206 pounds and Simon about 250.

Jenkins Tough On Spar Mates

Nearing the end of his training for his battle with Mike Kaplan of Roxbury in Mechanics Building Friday night, Lew Jenkins, former world lightweight champion, who is regarded as the hardest punching little man since Jim McLarnin, is having his troubles keeping sparring partners in his daily workouts at Kelley and Hayes gym.

The Sweetwater swatter from Texas, who expects to be in the best condition since he fought Fritz Zivic, ordered his trainer to round up even welterweights and middleweights to spar with him.

Kaplan will be facing a well conditioned Jenkins and that's why the Roxbury welterweight contender is working like a Trojan every day since the match was made.

MONEY TO LOAN

"HOW CAN I GET A LOAN FOR LESS?"

To apply for a $20 to $300 loan tell us how much you need and how you want to repay. Loans are made on furniture, car or note. No endorsers. No credit inquiries of friends or relatives. Quick, private service.

Payments include charges at Household's rate of 2½% per month on that part of a balance not exceeding $100, and 2% per month on that part of a balance in excess of $100 which is less than the maximum permitted by the Small Loan Law.
